Dedication

This book is affectionately dedicated to

Dr. Claude Carr Cody

the grand old man of

Southwestern

Dr. Claude Carr Cody

IT RARELY falls to the lot of a man to practically finish his great life task and then live on to enjoy the fruit of it, to witness its continuous expansion and to hear grateful and generous expressions of appreciation from those who have been the beneficiaries of his great work.

Such is the great privilege of Dr. C. C. Cody. When he came to Southwestern University, nearly forty years ago, he at once displayed those qualities and qualifications, which, persisted in, have made him the most conspicuous and best loved man in the College life of Texas.

Coming to Texas at that time, he had innumerable and tempting opportunities to engage in lucrative business, and, such was his native financial skill, that he could easily have amassed a fortune. But the dominating passion of his life was not to make money but to make men.

Nature made him a gentleman, the grace of God made him a christian, education and wide reading gave him culture, and Southwestern University gave him a congenial and fruitful field in which to pursue his high ambitions.

He endorsed, heartily, the ideas and ideals originally set up for Southwestern by her noble founder, and so persistently set himself to the task of having these ideals exhibited in the life of each student, that he himself became their complete embodiment; so that when anyone saw Dr. Cody, in the class room, crossing the campus, walking the street, speaking from the platform, or dispensing gracious hospitality in his home, he saw Southwestern University incarnate.

In pursuance of his ideals,—the making of men—he never wavered and never seemed to weary. The six hours a day spent in the class room were but a small part of his labor. Of the ten thousand students who passed through Southwestern during his active connection with it he knew every one by name, and so won and held their confidence and esteem that none ever hesitated to come to him for help in any difficult or perplexing situation. And no one ever found him too busy or too tired to give an interested and sympathetic hearing. He was constantly striving to find an easy passage to some boy's heart that he might influence him for good. Of this intense, intelligent and unselfish service there are today living monuments all over Texas. From Galveston to Dalhart, from Texarkana to El Paso are honorable men and charming women who were boys or girls at old Southwestern and all of them have words of love and appreciation for this some time teacher and all time friend, Dr. Cody.

JOHN M. BARCUS.

For the warm cooperation accorded us by the Student Body, the '16 Sou'Wester Staff wishes to express its thanks.

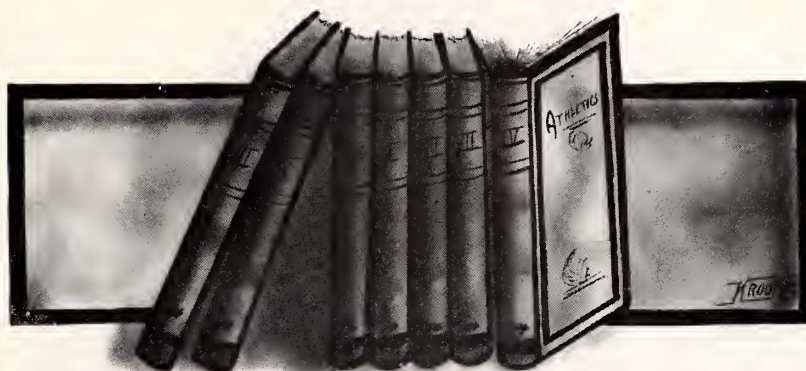

We have tried to give you a book worthy of Southwestern and a book that would truly reflect the happenings of the good year 1915 and 1916 at our Alma Mater. The measure of our success in this task is for you to judge.

Dr. Charles McTyeire Bishop

President of Southwestern University

Nothing need be said in this place concerning the facts of Dr. Bishop's life. Those who are interested in these things may go to WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA; to his published books and magazine articles; to his numerous friends and acquaintances and inquire what he believes and what he has done. Here we are concerned with a somewhat more intimate picture; a picture of our friend, counsellor and leader.

As our counsellor, Dr. Bishop holds out a strong Christian manhood. Day and night, in college hall and on campus, on platform or in private conversation, we find our President pleading for the best and most vital scholarship, friendship, work, play, ability and action. As we teach, as we buy and sell, as we sit in churches or walk thru slums, as we study or play; everywhere and under all circumstances as we meet our fellows and do our work, we do well to follow this plain, vital Christian life and ideal which our counsellor holds out to us by precept and example.

We students and young people, whose interests and ideals are yet in the making, whose struggles are as yet shielded from the uncompromising give and take of the market place; will an older man, a busy man with large responsibilities, temptations and fights be our friend? Our President is such a man. With stacks of letters on his desk; with many meetings to attend, with much work to do and supervise, with the eyes of thousands upon thousands upon him as the chief executive of a great college, with only twenty-four hours to spend each day, this man—and only a man, forsooth—frequently comes to us in our work and play, in our troubles and in our joys, in our lives as students and citizens to advise us and to help us. We do well to remember that we have such a friend.

We are spending or have spent much time, money, and energy in Southwestern. For better or worse we have helped to make her what she is today and much of our life and character has been moulded by her. After all, the years we spend within her halls are important years and what we learn to do and do there will in large measure gauge our future life. Do we follow a worthy leader? for some six years our President has stood before us and with able executive ability, keen foresight, sincere and earnest hard work, and an unbending trust in the ultimate triumph of our cause has sought to lead us all into such activity that our family and friends and acquaintances would say with one accord, "I believe in you." We do well to follow such a counsellor, friend and leader.

R. BLISS WOODS.

Dr. Albert Shipp Pegues

Dean of Southwestern University

It takes a poet to teach poetry, and that is why school boys, who are by virtue of their youthfulness poets, understand the Leather Stocking Tales, whereas sophisticated pundits patronize them. A teacher who is "good" will provoke from those students who are capable of hero-worship emulation—not of his eccentricities, as Lord Erskine incited how many sentimental young lawyers to wear long white gloves into the jury room; but of his excellencies, as Abelard drew the eager minded youth of France, even of all Europe, to follow him, for wisdom's sake, from university to university. And if a teacher is a poet, a hero, you will find the poet chronicled in the student talk at the dinner table; if he arouses interest in his subject, as every true poet and hero—the two are ever largely identical—must arouse, there will be violent conflict of ideas. Around the dinner tables and in the speculative rooms of congregation there are in Georgetown this evening, I dare say, warm discussion of English literature and the man teaching it—even as there were in the sweet days of another generation of collegians.

In memory I always think of Professor Pegues as reading to the Class Chaucer or Wordsworth, or any poet. And as he read, we would sometimes look away over the hills stretching to the every luring South, and often we would look at his eyes, eloquent with the drama and poetry of his words. Had he done nothing, though, but make us listen to his rare reading, he had not been of such worth as a teacher. He made us more than passive listeners; he filled us with a positive ambition to know and to imaginatively comprehend the facts of what is written. No mere dilettante impressions in that instruction! Here is enthusiasm for a subject born out of a fulness of knowledge of that subject—scholarship that is spiritual—whole scholarship. Whoever failed as many students as Professor Pegues? Yet whoever made so many students sleep with "bokes at their beddes heed"? And many who came to get but "credits" remained to love the high and beautiful.

Perhaps the most admirable quality of this contagious enthusiasm is that it is curbed to enter into the performance of the endless drudgery connected with the teaching of English. It has not been many years since the head of the department at Southwestern taught practically all the Freshman English, Sophomore English, and one or two advanced courses—courses always full. Nevertheless the profusion of required themes and examinations were always carefully read. "I always read everything required to be written," said Professor Pegues once. I remember that one busy commencement he told me that in my examination I had erred in using "raised" for "reared."

There is a certain pride, even awesomeness in the man—somehow, to me, connotative of Daniel Webster—that makes him stand aloof. Yet I can well see his fitness for this later office of dean. One year when he sacrificed to superintend Mood Hall he would read the exhilarating ballads of Kipling to the fellows that were sick. And I know of one youth who was raised up from his bed by the roses sent by him and Mrs. Pegues. (It were hard to think of him long without thinking too of Mrs. Pegues.)

Poet, lover and philosopher a strong man of common sense, fierce in the advocacy of principle, catholic in taste, a fine gentleman, eloquent, as inflexible in attendance to unadorned duty as he requires of those under him—he stands for a combination of refinement and thoroughness that transcends "kultur."

TRADITION DEPARTMENT

In this department are the pictures of a few of Southwestern's friends. To give a list of all these loyal sons or to chronicle all the happenings of self-sacrifice and devotion which they have performed would be the task of a much larger book than this. There is, therefore, no claim to completeness.

Southwestern University has its interesting customs, traditions and historical background peculiar to its long standing as a religious college. What reminiscences the old "Prep" building brings to the students of bygone days! What fancies are awakened in the youthful minds of present students when they look upon its ivy-clad walls! Here the University had its beginning and here the sainted Mood laid the foundations for the Central Educational Institution of Texas Methodism and "Humbly invoking the guidance and approval of Almighty God, and with a single eye to His glory," he consecrated Southwestern University to higher Christian education.

THE EARLY YEARS OF SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

Southwestern University was formally opened October 6, 1873 in what is now the Preparatory Building. This building was unfinished, on the interior, only two stories high, and contained six rooms and an auditorium. The Faculty, the first year, consisted of three men, so this space was so much more than was needed, that Dr. Mood, had two of the lower rooms plastered and finished, moved his family into them and lived here for a year or two. The enrollment the first year, 1873-4, was 33; the second year, 63; the third year, 78; the fourth year, 103; the fifth year, 109, making a total for these five years of 386. If no name were counted more than once, the net enrollment would be less than 200, as some of the students had been in attendance for four years, and most of them had been enrolled more than one session. I entered the Faculty in the year 1878-79, or the sixth session from the beginning, and as many of the first students were from Georgetown, or its vicinity, there are less than 100 students who have enrolled in Southwestern University from its beginning up to the present session, whom I have not, in some way, personally touched, only three of the living graduates whose diplomas I did not sign, and not a professor or ex-professor with whom I was not well acquainted, having served the institution with all but two.

When I reached Georgetown, more than 37 years ago, a slow January rain was falling. There were no sidewalks in those days, the mud was black and deep, and when it rained it became, as they say in Arkansas, "gormy." My first sensation, on stepping from the train, was that of disgust, for I found that the mud, rapidly accumulated on my feet with every step I took, and would not be shaken off.

When Dr. Mood greeted me, his first question was "Well, how do you like Texas?" I replied, "Oh, the mud! the mud!" He answered at once: "But, there is corn and cotton and wheat and oats in this mud." And so at the start I found that he was an optimist.

The first chapel service I attended, a young, rosy cheeked, round faced student, dressed in round-about coat and gray trousers presided at the organ and led the singing. I soon learned that his name was John Barcus. He selected and announced the hymn, and when Professor Bryce turned to it, I noticed that he was convulsed. There had been a fight, that morning, between two of the prominent youngsters of the lower classes, and Bryce had heard about it. I saw the reason when I turned to the hymn in the little thick song-book we used, and read the opening lines:

"Let dogs delight, to bark and bite,
For 'tis their nature to."

Fighting was not uncommon in those days, and while fighting was always very strongly disapproved, it was then generally agreed that there were a good many things worse than fighting, provided no serious damage was meant or incurred.

In these early days the typical East Texas boy was very different from the typical West Texas boy. The former came from the farm and the latter from the ranch.

The farm boy was generally dependent. He would come directly from the railroad station to the President, or some professor, armed with a letter of introduction, and would ask for help in securing a boarding place. Later he would want help and advice about the course of study, and suggestions about matters of behavior, associations and college rules.

The ranch boy, before the days of wire fences, when it was the rule to "ride lines," was self-reliant and resourceful.

When he would report to the President's office, and Dr. Mood would ask him if he wanted help in securing a boarding house, he would reply, briskly, "I have arranged all that, Doctor." Then when asked about his course of study the answer would be, "I wrote for a catalogue and have all that planned." His work on the big ranches had made him alert, the only trouble with him was the difficulty of holding him in college through the four-year course, as the "call of the ranch" was often too strong to be resisted.

Dr. Mood offered, among other studies, a course in elementary moral philosophy especially for the Freshmen, which he taught himself. He wanted to reach and influence this class in every way he could. A few days after the opening, in calling the roll, he would ask each young man, two questions, "Have you a Bible?" "Have you a pistol?" and insist upon candid answers. He would urge each young man who had no Bible, to at once, supply himself with one, and each member of the class who had a pistol to bring it to him and allow him to keep it until the close of the school, as there could be no use for it as long as the student remained in school. He generally obtained good results from this lecture.

SOUTHWESTERN

It was in September, 1880, that after Dr. Mood had made the usual call to the class, Eugene Baker appeared at the President's office with his six-shooter and with some show of pride said: "Here is my gun, Doctor," handed it to him. The Doctor, looking at it askance, inquired "Is it loaded?" "Yes sir," Baker answered. Dr. Mood, with some show of alarm, hastily stepped back and said: "Mr. Baker, take the loads out, and then bring it tome." Eugene stepped over to the window, tossed it up and reaching out with the pistol, there was "bang! bang! bang! bang." He handed the pistol to Dr. Mood and said with an air of satisfaction, "The loads are all out, Doctor." It is perhaps needless to say that Baker was a West Texas boy.

Every year, in the early eighties, witnessed a growth in the attendance of students as well as in number in the Faculty. In 1881 the third story and mansard roof was added to the old college building, and much ado was made over this visible mark of progress. The first college periodical was issued monthly and called "The Alamo and San Jacinto Monthly." A name too long, but nothing shorter could be agreed upon that would include both literary societies. The first number, issued in November, 1882, was gotten out by a committee composed of R. A. John, James R. Hamilton, H. L. Mosely and W. E. Hawkins of the Alamo Society, and B. L. Davis, R. E. Brooks, W. D. Coats and C. D. Smith of the San Jacinto Society.

From the committee of eight, six have developed into very prominent lawyers, whose names are known throughout Texas.

W. E. Hawkins, now one of the Associate Judges in the Supreme Court of Texas, was very active in getting out the first number, and he gathered to gether the sheets of the first copy as they came from the press. He probably has this copy yet, as he proposed to keep it always as a souvenir.

Among the articles contributed the very first year were: "Religious Education, the Safeguard of the Nation," by John M. Barcus, now a Doctor of Divinity, and one of the prominent preachers of the State; "An Age of Progress," by W. E. Hawkins; "Texas and Her Sons," by R. L. Henry, now a prominent member of Congress, and a candidate for the United States Senate; "Life as Influenced by Temperature," by B. L. Davis, now a leading lawyer of Corsicana; "The Spirit of Discovery," by W. C. McKamy, now an ex-State Senator and well known business man of Dallas; "Ideality," by R. A. John, now a prominent corporation lawyer of Houston; "Have an Aim in Life," by C. K. Lee, now a Railroad Lawyer of Fort Worth; "Who Shall Lead Us?" by Frank Andrews, now a leading member of one of the strongest law firms of Houston; "The Progress of Mind," by R. E. Brooks, now one of the most prominent and successful business men of Houston and an Ex-District Judge; "My Country, My God," by James R. Hamilton, now a leading lawyer in Central Texas, and a successful district attorney. In the third of a century since this first volume was published this college monthly, now called "Southwestern University Magazine," has not failed to make its monthly appearance throughout each college year and many of the brightest minds of Texas have contributed original articles to its pages, and the above list of subjects, and names that have become prominent, could be extended indefinitely.

Declamation was greatly stressed, daily in the chapel, weekly in the society halls, and annually in the contests. All the old students remember how Will McKamy and Bob Knight, in successive years spoke "My Country! My Mother!! My God!!!" or "Shall Our Laurels Wither?" that, perhaps was introduced by M. L. Bateman, and became so popular that Dr. Mood denounced it as "a piece of empty, oratorical bombast" and barred it from further appearances upon the college stage.

In those days, as commencement approached, the secluded places along the banks of the San Gabriel were constantly echoing with college oratory as the boys practiced for the coming contests. It was a little later that Sam Thomas was reciting Munsey's "Lost Soul" in a dense thicket just beyond the limits of North Georgetown, at a twilight hour, when a wagon load of kind hearted country folk returning home, hearing him shrieking through the gathering darkness "Lost! Lost!" rushed frantically to his rescue. Of course Sam enjoyed their discomfiture.

In those early days a great deal of interest was taken in the debating societies. The champion debate between representatives of the Alamo and San Jacinto Societies was the most prominent feature of the whole college year. It would be interesting, if the limits of this paper allowed, to give the weighty questions, such as "Shall the Tariff be Abolished?" and like themes, and the names of the debaters, from year to year.

Time and the fruitage has shown that the Faculty and the students worked hard and to some purpose in these early years. Occasionally there were bright things said and done that were not all together in harmony with the situation, as the following paper handed in thirty-three years ago, written during the hour assigned to an examination in mathematics. The writer is one of the brightest and loveliest women that ever attended Southwestern University, and in spite of her dislike for mathematics, she has splendidly filled her sphere in life, and today is filling the honorable estate of grandmother:

"Can I ever forget this Examination?
Not while time lends his fleet wings to me,
How we sat in the school room this evening
With faces disconsolate to see.

On the blackboard are hideous questions
About secants and tangents and sines
And Mercy knows that all the answers
Have fled from our terrified minds.

There Ada and Fannie and Ella—
With ink all over their clothes,
And Maggie, the Regent's bright daughter
With beautiful hair and straight nose.

And Linnie, a Professor's sister,—
Surely her's is an enviable lot,
With her front hair all done up in papers,
And the rest in a comical knot.

1910 | SOUTHWESTERN | 1910

And Fannie, a Professor's intended
With eyes of cerulean blue,
Her bearing, majestic and graceful,
And a hole in the sole of her shoe.

And Maggie, with peepers the brownest,
Her pen resting over her ear
Seems lost in the big unit circle,
With functions and formulae near.

I sit with my pen clutched, the wildest,
My hair scattered over the floor,—
In despair, I've unwittingly mixed it
With the trash 'tween my seat and the door.

Forgive me, this once more, I implore you,—
I remember the time in the past
That you would forgive me and help me,
And yet I break promises, alas!

E. L. ALBERSON, A. B., Cherokee, Texas.

"I dare do all that may become a man who dare do more is none."

"Dutch" is what might be called a "civilized" dutchman. He is thoroughly civilized, however, and not at all dangerous except in the presence of the fair sex. Since coming to Southwestern he has dropped his dutch and now speaks United States fluently.

Being tall and stately he makes a dignified teacher at Prep and he may easily be mistaken for a real "prof."

AARON HENRY ANGLIN, A. B., A. M.,
Georgetown, Texas.

*"Here's to an honest man—
The noblest work of God."*

Barb; San Jacinto; Mission Band; Basket Ball '10; Foot Ball Scrubs '12; Foot Ball Squad '15-'16.

He declares that it was six years ago that he landed at Southwestern. He has spent a year or two teaching since that time and returned to graduate with the '16 Class.

In athletics he has gained a record worthy of note as well as in other activities.

ARRIE BARRETT, A. B., Anson, Texas.

"A lovable character—entirely lovable and sincere."

Alethean; Y. W. C. A.

Arrie is one of our prodigals who returned to complete her course after some practical experience in the class room.

She has distinguished herself this year by winning Prof. Moore's commendation "From time to time."

FRED BISHOP, A. B., Georgetown, Texas.

"The secret of success is a constancy to purpose."

Whether purposely or otherwise Fred has held himself aloof from the members of the class. In fact during his Senior year he spent the greater part of his time in doing correspondence work.

Although Fred's personal appearance is nothing out of the ordinary; in fact it might be termed ordinary, still when one enters into conversation with him one is startled by his wide scope of knowledge—especially in the field of agriculture (please note distinction between field of agriculture and agricultural field). As regards "Farmers' Unions" he is the last authority.

LESLIE A. BOONE, A. B., Corpus Christi, Texas.

*"The light that never was on sea or land,
The consecration and the poet's dream."*

Kappa Sigma; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '14-'15; Alamo Intermediate Debate '14-'15; Megaphone Staff Poet '14-'15; President Junior Class '14-'15; Glee Club '14-'15; Art Editor '14-'15; Junior Orator '14-'15; Chairman Lecture Committee '15-'16; Editor Southwestern University Magazine '15-'16; Press Club.

If there were a fourth dimension for the Seniors to aspire to, Leslie is the only one in the class who would qualify. He does not mix with the "Common Herd", but dwells apart in realms of rhythm, rhyme and—Ruth.

J. G. BURNS, A. B., Cuero, Texas.

"In calmness made."

Phi Delta Theta; Chemistry Society; Scholarship Society.

Everyone tho't Gillett was quiet, reserved and adverse to society until he made his debut as Campaign Manager for the popularity contest.

KITTIE CAIN, A. B., Elgin, Texas.

"Her air, her manners, all who saw admired; Courtous, though coy and gentle, though retired."

Delta Delta Delta; Fitting School Scholarship '12; Woman's Honor Council '13-'14; Secretary of Junior Class '15; Member of Chemistry Club '14-'15; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet '14-'15, '15-'16; President of Woman's Self Government Association '14-'15.

The years she has spent at Southwestern have been filled with her class work, responsible activities and helping other people.

"Princess Kittie" will continue to be as unassuming as she is regardless of the honors she receives.

FRANK CALLCOTT, A. B., Sabinal, Texas.

"Fie upon this single life."

Barb; San Jacinto; President San Jacinto '15-'16; President Epworth League '15-'16; Mission Band '15-'16; Student Instructor in Spanish; Scholarship Society; San Jacinto Intermediate Debate '14-'15-'16; Junior Orator '14-'15.

"Mr. Callcott" has been a leader in religious circles ever since he landed at Southwestern. He is president of the Mission Band and one of the mainstays of the Ministerial Association. He is also a member of the "Lead Kindly Light Society"—Otherwise he is a very respectable citizen.

1916 SOUTHWESTERN 16

LOIS CAMPBELL, A. B., Georgetown, Texas.

*"A little upright, pert, tart, tripping wright,
This little maid is our delight."*

Phi Mu; Orchestra '12 to '15; Secretary
Junior Class; Scholarship Society '15-'16.

"Saookums" is said to be a very studious girl, but there seems to be some doubt about it, as she declares that she never misses a show. At any rate, she has accomplished the feat of belonging to the Scholarship Society.

NELLIE CARR, Rusk, Texas.

"Oh blessed with the power to make tomorrow as bright as today."

Student Instructor of Latin '15-'16.

"Nellie" is one of our class who has made a four years course in three with an average hard to excell.

She is sincere and true to her friends and wherever she goes she will be successful.

HUGH SEVIER CARTER, A. B., Georgetown, Texas.

"Though modest, on his unembarrassed brow nature had written 'gentleman'."

Kappa Sigma; San Jacinto; Magazine
Staff '13-'14; Megaphone Staff '13-'14; Sou' wester Staff '14-'15; Alternate Intercollegiate Debate '14-'15; Junior Orator '14-'15; Marshall '14-'15; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '15-'16;
Editor-in-Chief of the Sou'wester '15-'16; Chief
Marshall '15-'16; Manager Basket Ball '15-
'16; President San Jacinto '15-'16; President
Press Club '15-'16.

Owing to the natural reserve and inherent dignity of "Sir Roger" we hesitate to roast
"Honey Boy" (the appellation of Senior girl).

It has been known all the year that he was the National board of censorship for the Sou'wester, but only recently it has become known that he has been so "bored" with part of it that he turned it down.

In spite of his modest mien many honors have been "thrust upon him."

LUCILE CHAPMAN, A. B., Leander, Texas.

"A truer, nobler, trustier heart, more loving or more loved ne'er beat within a human breast."

Clio; Honor Council of Woman's Self Government Association '14-'15; Lecture Committee '15-'16.

"Little 'un" spent a year or two at Coronal and then came to Southwestern to take her degree.

Every term she has been here she has fully intended to fail in one course at least but somehow she has been disappointed in this and instead she usually ranks high.

E.C. CLABAUGH, JR., A. B., Belton, Texas.

*"Looks forward persevering to the last,
From well to better, daily self-surpassed."*

Pi Kappa Alpha; Alamo; President Pan-Hellenic '15-'16; Intermediate Debate '14-'15 Baylor Debate '15-'16; President Honor Council '15-'16; Vice-President Alamo '14-'15; Magazine Staff '13-'14; Southwestern University Scholarship Society '15-'16; Marshall '15-'16.

In his Freshman days Clabaugh aspired to be a lover and this aspiration reached its culmination in his Junior year. While in his Senior year he became more serious and for some unaccountable reason the Annex knew him no longer.

STANLEY COUGHRAN, A. B., Floresville, Texas.

*"Worldly wise, exceeding clever,
Of a graciousness innate;
And in every role whatever
'Up-to-date'."*

Kappa Sigma; Alamo; Alamo President '15-'16; Assistant Manager Base Ball '14-'15

Pal is one of the most all 'round men in the class. Although he walks with the air of one "en haut" few social gatherings are not cheered with his wit, humor and general pleasantness.

JOHN B. COWAN, A. B., Lampasas, Texas.

"A very thoughtful student—careful not to overdo it."

Pi Kappa Alpha; Glee Club '13-'14-'15-'16; T. B. of B. P. Club.

In earlier days "Johnnie" learned to solve the problem of maximum efficiency with minimum mid-night oil consumption.

He also made himself famous by his superior loyalty to the Annex and we have even heard that his fickle heart is like a Columbia boarding house—there's always room for one more.

GEO. E. DARSEY, JR., Grapeland, Texas.

"Take him all in all we shall never see his like again."

"Sawbones" is the only one of his kind in captivity. He was one of the contestants in the Ugliest Man contest, but unfortunately was defeated. As organizer, ramrod and general business manager of the various Hard Nine Organizations he has placed stars in his crown.

In Sociology he is adviser to Dr. Granberry and has the gift of shaking his head when the wrong answer is given.

MARY DAVIDSON, A. B., Monticello, Ark.
*"Who scatters around wit and humor at will;
 Whose daily 'bon mots' half a column might fill."*

Delta Delta Delta; University Honor Council;
 Woman's Honor Council; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet.

Although she came from "Arkansas" one would never know it.

It was in the fall of 1915 that Mary landed at Southwestern and now we are convinced she is "in love" with Texas.

Since she starred in "Breezy Point" as Ashrael and in Public Speaking Class Mary has about decided to go on the stage. This is to be seen later.

NELIA FRANCES DAVIDSON, A. B., Floresville, Texas.

"Life is so short and love is all, I'm thinking."

Phi Mu.

To a stranger Nelia is a very quiet, sober, dignified maiden; to those who know her this is the very much on the surface. Nelia has a poetical soul, doting on "Poems of Pasion" and "Love Sonnets." Each year she has a new love affair and every time it threatens to be "Something really serious, My Dear"; however, those acquainted with her wiles know that—"It's just a fancy of the skitish mind of youth." that comes and goes with the spring."

HAROLD DAYVAULT, Blessing, Texas.

He frowns and looks wise when he thinks the professor is going to ask him a question.

Kappa Sigma; Member Mood Hall Honor Council '14-'15; Assistant Business Manager of Sou'wester '14-'15; Business Manager of Megaphone '15-'16; Pan Hellenic '15-'16.

"Child Harold" has distinguished himself by his dry wit and good disposition.

"Du" has taken an active part in college and no doubt he will be a great business man but we will tip our hats to him who has accomplished the feat of graduating without the use of textbooks.

INEZ DUNLAP, A. B., Hereford, Texas.

"Her character is moulded from the three words: happiness, content and good will."

Delta Delta Delta; Alethean; President Alethean '16; Basket Ball '12-'13-'14-'15-'16; Captain Basket Ball '15; Manager Basket Ball '16; Editor Junior Class; President of Senior Class '15; Student Instructor in German '14-'15; Student Instructor in English '15-'16; Scholarship Society.

The first year Ienz entered upon her college career she made a record in the class room and Basket Ball which she has kept. She is indeed one of our athletes and we are always sure of her plays.

MARY DUNLAP, Voice, Hereford, Texas.

*"Her voice changed like a bird's;
There grew more of the music and less of
of the words."*

Delta Delta Delta; Basket Ball, '12-'13-
'14-'15.

Mary is a girl with a smile. If her eyes only were visible you would know she was smiling. If you could see nothing but her mouth you would still realize that she was smiling. Tho she has been absent since Christmas, she still lives in the hearts of her classmates thru her charming personality.

LEE E. EDENS, A. B., Bertram, Texas.

"Who never knew misfortune and most heartily did laugh."

San Jacinto; President of San Jacinto Literary Society, '16.

As the evening shadows were falling one September eve four years ago, the entire population of Bertram (23) gathered around the little station to see their fairest son take his departure for College. Since that time "Lee" has acquired the knowledge of "vaporizing" for the Education Classes and giving science reports.

FRED FRANCIS, A. B., Lampasas, Texas.

"My mind to me a kingdom is."

Alamo; Pres. Senior Class, '15-'16; Brooks Prize Debate '15-'16; Pres. Alamo Literary Society, '15-'16.

Fred is a social possibility without the inclination and also an unknown quantity not subject to chemical analysis.

On warm Spring days he prefers to follow the teachings of Isaac Walton rather than Pegues, Davidson and Granbery.

Reward offered to find out the cause of the social awakening.

CORNELIA GAYDEN, Groesbeck, Texas.

*She has found a work, a life purpose;
and she will follow it cheerfully.*

Graduate Scarritt Bible and Training School 1915.

Member Southwestern University Scholarship Society.

Cornelia came to us from Scarritt Bible and Training School. In future years we will be especially glad to hear the name of one of our class mates among those who are achieving great success in another land.

She has been faithful to every task—but once she did cut her "prep" class to attend Senior meeting!

R. B. GILBREATH, A. B., Columbia, Tennessee.

"Whence is thy learning? Has thy toil o'er books consumed the mid-night oil?"

Pi Kappa Alpha; Alamo; Intermediate Debate, '14-'15; Student Instructor in Science; Pres. Alamo, '15-'16.

A foreigner—from Tennessee. "Bob" must have been the man who invented work. He is always at the bottom of the deepest problems.

IRENE SHANNON HENDERSON, A. B., Georgetown, Texas.

"Makes you look into the future and ask yourself, what destiny will be hers."

Student Assistant in English. Member Southwestern University Scholarship Society.

When she was a Freshman Miss Sanders often drilled her in walking on the balls of her feet and in lowering her voice but since then Irene has "fallen from grace" and we wonder if there is any hope for her.

A. G. HOYL, A. B., Decatur, Texas.

"Upon his brow shame is ashamed to sit; For 'tis a throne where honor may be crowned Sole monarch of the Universal earth."

Phi Delta Theta; Alamo; Intermediate debate '14-'15; Orchestra; Secretary Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball '13-'14; Track '13-'14; Foot Ball '14-'15, '15-'16; Glee Club '15-'16; Pan Hellenic.

For four years Archie has done nothing but play.

As a Freshman he began to play track and won the hurdles. As a Sophomore and Junior he strengthened the Foot Ball and Basket Ball teams. In the latter part of his College career, however, his aesthetic nature got the mastery and he became a mainstay of the Orchestra and sole rival of the stray cats around Mood Hall.

WARREN H. HULL, A. B., A. M., San Antonio, Texas.

"The soul reveals itself in the voice only."

Pi Kappa Alpha; Glee Club '12-'13-'14-'15-'16. Student Assistant in Biology '13-'14 Manager Glee Club '14-'15.

Futuregraph "from the New York Times 1926."

"Never in history has an artist been so enthusiastically received as was Monsieur Warren H. Hull."

He received his earliest training in Southwestern University Choir, Georgetown, Texas. It was here, that he acquired his remarkable wind."

MARY J. IRVINE, A. B., Georgetown, Texas.

She hath a will of her own and can take care of herself.

Mary has made herself known best to those in her section at Chapel. Between her conscientiousness and Prof. Tinsley's threats "Pew 31" is always crowded.

Mary is thorough in all her work and has won much admiration.

W. W. JACKSON, A. B., Mansfield, Texas.

"Who, if he rise to station of command, Rises by open means."

Barb; San Jacinto; Intermediate Debate, '13-'14; Magazine Staff, '14-'15; San Jacinto-Rusk Debate, '14-'15; Brooks Prize Debate, '14-'15; Pres. San Jacinto, '15-'16; Baylor Debate '15-'16; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, '15-'16.

"Winsome Willie" should have his picture made in full dress suit in his Freshman year—some of the girls have decided he is good looking (in his picture).

He has been one of our debators and, in fact, he has taken part in many of the best things in college.

E. G. JENKINS, A. B., Bryan, Texas.

"It is not position but mind I want."

Phi Delta Theta; Assistant Manager in Track '14-'15; Vice-President Senior Class; Pan Hellenic Council '15-'16.

"Jenks" made his debut into the Senior Class when he assumed the office of vice-president. Since then he has been a loyal Senior.

For four years "Jenks" has continued to win friends on account of his good disposition and pleasant smile, which never wears off.

When he has become a prominent physician we will be even prouder of him.

IDA MAE LEE, A. B., Bastrop, Texas.

"Her judgement good, her ways concise; she goes it all alone. She listens to her friends advice, then goes and takes her own."

Clio; Clio President '14-'15; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet '14-'15; Y. W. C. A. President '15-'16; Lecture Committee '15-'16; Honor Council of Woman's Self Government Association '14-'15.

Ida Mae has always been known for her ability to catch a joke readily (?) She "got by" on her brother's reputation during her Freshman year but her record for the remaining years may be read in her "honors".

BEN LEIGH, A. B. Temple, Texas.

"He's a philosopher; nothing disquiets him, nothing dismays."

Alamo; Inter-Collegiate Debate '15-'16; Senior Intermediate Debate '14-'15; President of Junior Class '15.

Words cannot describe Ben. To understand him fully one must see him and study him, and when one leaves him he is none the wiser.

Ben's favorite pastime is the reviewing of old text-books and with the lore found therein he breaks up many a new-fangled theory. Naturally of an inquisitive mind he asks more questions and gets fewer answers than any man in College, Prof. Davidson not excepted.

J. L. LYONS, A. M., Glade Springs, Virginia.

"A man is the architect of his fortune and he has already draughted the plans for his air castles."

Kappa Alpha; Alamo; President Alamo, '14-'15; Mood Hall Honor Council, '14-'15; Brooks Prize Debate, '13-'14; President Prohibition League, '14-'15; Manager "Senior Daily," '14-'15; Prep Instructor, '15-'16; President of Students' Association, '15-'16.

Virginia, has the honor of being the native state of this senior.

He is reported to have said that he came all way down here to escape "Sleepy" but he was the first man he met when he arrived at Southwestern. In spite of this fact he has repeatedly made distinction in history.

FREDERICK ARTHUR MANCHESTER, A. B., Georgetown, Texas

"I may not be handsome but I'm darn good looking."

Kappa Sigma; Alamo; Southwestern University Scholarship Society; Der Verein; Glee Club '14-'15; Pianist '15-'16.

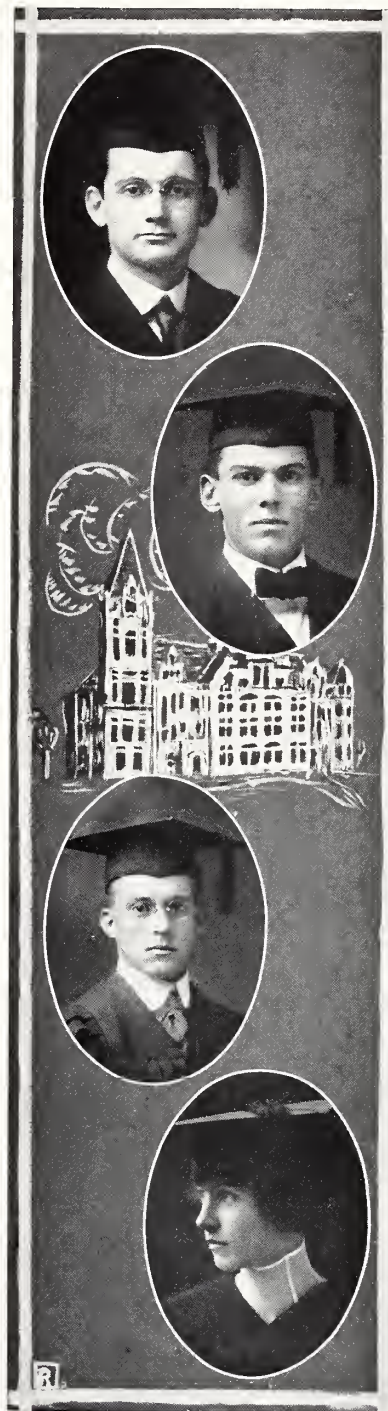

"Frederick" plays the piano for the Glee Club and the dickens everywhere else.

In spite of the fact that he spends half his time in class using the well known blue pad and pencil he somehow manages to make distinctions in his courses. By virtue of this he belongs to the Scholarship Society.

SUDIE MARTIN, A. B., Georgetown, Texas.

"Nothing is impossible to diligence and skill."

Sudie has been an unloyal Senior because she "cut" our class meeting to have a date but we still claim her as one of our number and perhaps there is some hope for her conversion.

ANNIE McCLENDON, A. B., Ben Arnold, Texas.

"So firm, so strong, yet so refined."

Clio; Honor Council of Woman's Self Government Association '15-'16; Commencement President of Clio '16.

Annie hails from Ben Arnold (search the map) and she declares its a great place.

For four years she has looked forward to the time when she could get her a school and teach History—and now her aim is becoming realized.

"Dutchess Ann" has made a record during her college course that is worthy and she will make her future a success.

L. C. MERREM, A. B., Shiner, Texas.

"With all the requisites for a successful man—success will have to hustle to keep away from him."

San Jacinto; Freshman-Sophomore Declamation Contest, '12-'13; Intermediate Orator, '13-'14; Intermediate Debate, '14-'15; Junior Orator '14-'15; Student Assistant '15-'16; Student Instructor, '15-'16; Brooks Prize Debate, '15-'16; Intercollegiate Orator, '15-'16.

L. C. has been so busy developing his oratorical powers since he has been at Southwestern that he has had no time nor inclination to help wear smooth some of the rocks on the Annex walk.

EDNA ALLENE MITCHELL, A. B., Floresville, Texas.

"Beauties in vain their pretty eyes may roll.

Charms strike the sight, but merit wins the soul."

Alpha Delta Pi. After spending a year at S. A. F. C. "Mitch" came to Southwestern to finish her "education."

Her reputation was made for her when she arrived because she happened to be one of the Floresville aggregation.

"Mitch" is not very much interested in school teaching, she thinks she knows of something far more pleasant!

GLADYS MARGARET NOWLIN, A. B., Georgetown, Texas.

With a light heart, gay and free.

A. D. Pi, Student Assistant in French '14-'15; Southwestern Scholarship Society.

Gladys has shown her loyalty to the '16 Class by coming to one of its parties, at least.

In other ways she has been more loyal. She has helped to raise the standard through her high scholarship and we are justly proud of her.

19 SOUTHWESTER 10

ROWENA ONDERDONK, A. B., San Antonio, Texas.

"As lamps burn silent with unconseious light,

So modest ease in beauty shines most bright."

Delta Delta Delta; Alethean; President Alethean; Basket Ball Team '12-'13, Captain Basket Ball Team '13-'14; Manager Basket Ball Team '14-'15; Captain Basket Ball Team '15-'16; Vice-Pres. Athletic Ass'n; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet '15-'16; Sou'Wester Staff '15-'16; Student Instructor in Spanish '14-'15.

"Billy" was rather shy in her Freshman days—in fact some thought she was a man-hater but how swiftly opinions change!

It was thought that she was only an athlete but she has taken an interest and participated in other activities.

In her Senior year "Billie" was elected as our May Queen.

ROBERTA PARTAIN, A. B., Georgetown, Texas.

*"None knew her but to love her,
None named her but to praise."*

Phi Mu; Student Assistant in German, '14-'15; Student Instructor in French, '14-'15; University Honor Council, '14-'15; Pan-Hellenic Council, '14-'15; Pres. German Society, '15-'16; Pres. Senior Class, '15-'16; Editor-in-Chief Senior '15-'16.

Among many things she excells in, languages are pre-eminent and should German become the universal language, Roberta, would have no need to be embarassed.

RUTH PIPER, A. B., Georgetown, Texas.

"My creed is, he is safe who does his best."

Scholarship Society.

Ruth is one of our class who reminds herself to keep away from Senior social functions.

Her record in the class room has been among the best and with her ability she will be a successful teacher in years to come.

MORGAN HAMPTON RICE, A. B., Moody, Texas.

"Good natured with a smile that laps over twice and buttons behind."

Barb; San Jacinto; Y. M. C. A.

He belongs to the press club as all through college his long suit has been to press suits. Now several boys are threatening to bring "breach-of-promise suits" to him but he pays no attention to this rumor. We are told that (Mr. Rice) is a hard working young man.

RUBIDICK RICHARD, A. B., Temple, Texas.

*"Of temper sweet, of yielding will
Of firm, yet placid mind."*

Member of Clio Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.

Rubidick was known in her Freshman year by her little feet and after four years her reputation remains the same.

"Her feet beneath her petticoat like little mice stole in and out."

The smallness of her statue does not prevent her heart from being large and her brain active.

ROY E. SEALE, A. B., Floresville, Texas.

"Not a man of iron but of live oak."

Kappa Sigma, San Jacinto Literary Society; Assistant Track Manager '14-'15; Track Manager '15-'16. Gesellschaft; Verein.

There are moments in the lives of all great men in which the future opens as a door and reveals to them a glimpse of their life's purpose. Such a moment must have occurred to Roy when he left "Floresville" four years ago. In track and pole vaulting Roy has excelled as well as in other lines of work.

He has won friends through his good humor and pleasant disposition.

ANNA BELL SEALY, A. B., Temple, Texas.

"Quietude and kindness on all occasions."

Clio; Y. W. C. A.

If silence is golden Anna's fortune is made for she is a firm believer in the conservation of words. In fact she says so little that we do not know much about her.

RUTH SIMMONS, A. B., Lampasas, Texas.

"And those about her shall read the perfect ways of honor."

Woman's Honor Council '15-'16. Clio; Student Assistant in Chemistry Fall Term '15.

She didn't know where her talent was until she passed in Sophomore English, then she decided to peruse Literature.

She has been one of the faithful members of the Honor Council and she is always ready for hard tasks because she has the perseverance.

H. G. SIMPSON, A. B., Colorado, Texas.

"One honor won is surely for more"

Barb; Alamo; Marshall, '13-'14; Magazine Staff, '13-'14; Alamo President, '13-'14; Lecture Committee, '14-'15; Business Manager Magazine, '14-'15; Student Assistant in Physics, '14-'15.

Homer has been in school four years but he declares that the Summer School '15 was the happiest period of his life. He aspires to be a civil engineer and we except him to be as successful there as he has been in his college course.

W. M. SLAGLE, A. B., Troup, Texas,

"A hard working, industrious, God fearing man."

Barb; Alamo; Student Instructor in Mathematics '13-'14; President Alamo '16; Assistant Editor Senior Daily '16; Chemistry Club.

It has been suggested that if the Lord smiled when he made some people he must have laughed aloud when he made this one. Although good looks are not a foremost characteristic he has many stalwart qualities.

"Slag" is one of the industrious hard working members of our class. At present he is a member of the Senior Staff and feels deeply the weight of the responsibility.

CAROL SMITH, A. B., Humble, Texas.

"Her voice was ever soft, gentle and low. An excellent thing in woman."

"Pug" is an old settler who goes to school at intervals. She has been fortunate enough to have Senior privileges for two years—the main reason for this was to be able to be a member of the '16 Class.

During her college career Puggie has had varied experiences. At present she is dealing in two important things—getting special delivery letters on Sunday and training her voice. She says she is going to teach next year but some wonder if she will not take another and more important degree.

VERA SMITH, A. B., Sagerton, Texas.

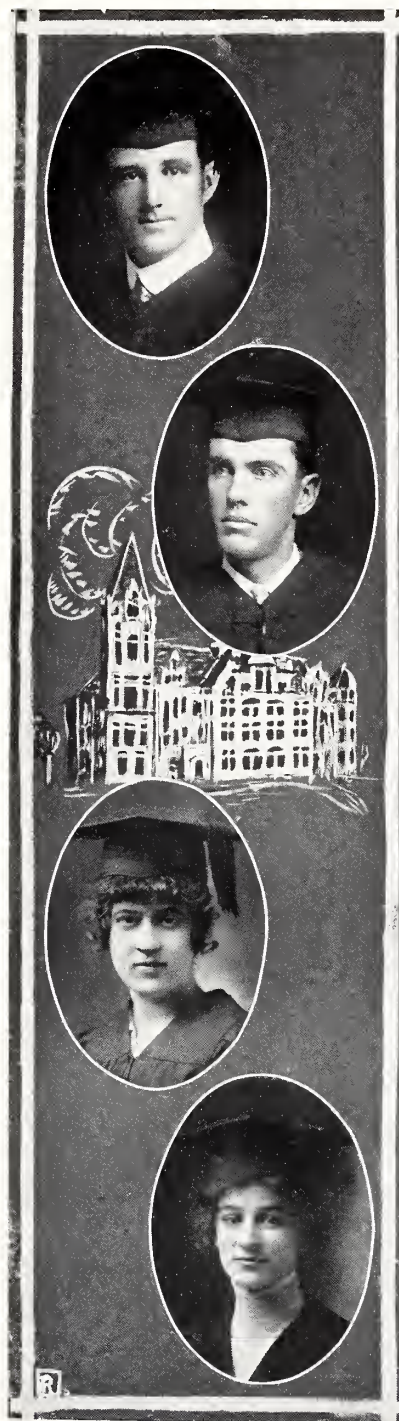

"It seemed that from her very presence sunshine streamed."

Delta Delta Delta; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; Tennis Club; Clio Literary Society; I. P. A. Cabinet; Die Verein.

Vera was known when she reached Georgetown as Mildred's sister.

Vera is still young and as she goes out into greater fields of activities perhaps she will learn:

"There's a gift beyond the reach of art, of being eloquently silent."

J. L. SPIVEY, A. B., Bellevue, Texas.

"Ripe for great exploits and mighty undertakings."

Kappa Sigma; Alamo; Sou'Wester Staff '13-'14; Executive Committee of Students Association '14-'15; Mood Hall Self-Government Association '14-'15; Marshall '15-'16; Pan-Hellenic Council '15-'16; Der Verein; Secretary Sunday School '14-'15, '15-'16; Vice-President of Students Association '15-'16.

In spite of his statue "Jeff" has won a warm place in every heart. He has filled responsible offices during his college career and we predict a prosperous future for him, and—perhaps he will grow.

ANNIE SMITH, A. B., Merkle, Texas.

"A happy genius is a gift of Nature."

Quiet and unassuming though she is, Annie ranks high in College. As proof of this she has been elected to membership in the Scholarship Society.

As a Society butterfly she hasn't fluttered enough to alarm the authorities at the present writing, but in spite of this serious handicap we can confidently predict success for her.

ELIZABETH A. SMYRL, A. B., El Paso, Texas.

"She hath a wisdom that doth guide her valor to act in safety."

Clio; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet '15-'16; President Young Woman's Honor Council '15-'16; Student Instructor in Spanish in Fitting School, '15-'16; Spanish Club '13-'14.

"Smyrl" has tried several governments—Ireland, Mexico, United States, etc., but she says she likes self-government best.

True Irish wit has been one of her redeeming features for four years, even in her Senior year she can hardly assume a dignified air except as president of the Honor Council.

HATTIE STANFORD, A. B., Lorena, Texas.

*"She is as kind as she is fair,
For beauty lives with kindness".*

Clio; Vice-President Clio '13-'14; President Clio '15-'16; Woman's Self Government Officer '14-'15, '15-'16; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet '14-'15; '15-'16; Vice-President I. P. A. '15-'16; Senior Class Reporter.

Hat has spent all of her leisure time and patience "putting back entrance credits." We have only to look above to remember how ready she has been to do her part. She is ready "To warn, to comfort and command" and those who do without her next year will realize that, "none but herself can be her parallel"

J. C. TUCKER, A. B., Garland Texas.

"He touches the springs of finance for the class and at the end a stream of chicken feed flows forth."

Pi KA; Alamo; Secretary of Sunday School '14-'15; '15-'16; Pan Hellenic Council '15-'16; Treasurer of Senior Class; Student Assistant Zoology '14-'15, '15-'16.

"Tuck" has found his calling—calling at the Annex. He is as faithful in this as he is in collecting Senior dues—although we admit that the latter may be far more pleasant.

He had slight propensity for studying until he entered the English 7 class when like true greatness, it was thrust upon him.

RUTH STORY, A. B., Plainview, Texas.

"Straight for her is the path of duty And she always marked it a path of beauty."

Clio; Y. W. C. A.; Senior Staff; Press Club; Student Assistant in History.

A Clarendon graduate and a school teacher!

Ruth has spent only one year at Southwestern and during that time she has become one of Prof. Moore's star pupils—she always knows when to laugh and how much.

She is one of those care-free girls who make life worth while.

F. H. TUCKER, A. B., Nacogdoches, Texas.

Can be seen at a glance—think this over.

KA; Mood Hall Honor Council, '13-'14, '14-'15; Assistant Manager Track, '14-'15; Assistant Business Manager Megaphone, '14-'15; President University Honor Council, '14-'15; Student Assistant in Chemistry, '13-'14, '14-'15; Pan-Hellenic Council, '14-'15; Manager Track, '14-'15.

You wouldn't suspect it but they say he sneaks off and goes calling every Sunday night.

"Pink" expects to be a surgeon and if he continues to be as persistent in his work as he has been in the laboratories he will be quite successful.

MARVIN WIEMERS, A. B., Mason, Texas.

"My son, beware of the Germans."

Basket Ball, '14-'15; Foot Ball, '14-'15; San Jacinto, Verein.

Marvin has several manias but the chief one is "Germania" One of his other manias is athletics. At foot ball he was always in there with the old ginger and fight and in Basket Ball he was a sure and dependable man.

A. WARD WILSON, A. B., Floresville, Texas.

"He is perfectly witty, his ways are immense, he'd tickle your fancy in spite of your sense."

Barb; Alamo; Pres. Oratorical Association; Intercollegiate Debate, '14-'15; Brooks Prize Debate, '15-'16; Manager of Sou-Wester, '15-'16.

"Loopey" has become famous in S. U. circles as a debater and orator. So proficient has he become in the art that he can often conceal the absence of thought by a superfluity of words. He has distinguished himself in various ways while in college. As a Freshman he was noted for his greenness; as a Soph—an organizer of Kangaroo Courts and various other dangerous enterprises; as a Junior—a silver tongued orator; as a Senior, ramrod of the University and promoter of Beauty Contests.

THE ATHLETIC COUNCIL

J. BURTON RIX

Head of Athletics at Southwestern.

No eulogy need be written of Mr. Rix. His work speaks for itself. During his two years as head of Athletics at Southwestern there has been a steady improvement in our teams. Last fall, with only one letter man returning, many people thought there was little chance for a good team this year. What could be expected from a bunch of light men who had never seen service in College Football? However these people did not know Rix as they know him now. They did not know that out of a bunch of green Freshmen he could develop a team that would win a majority of its games from the best teams in the state. Southwestern is proud of Rix.

Football Schedule for 1915

October 12—Southwestern 3, Hendrix College 0, at Georgetown
October 23—Southwestern 0, Baylor University 10, at Georgetown.
October 30—Southwestern 0, University of Texas 45, at Austin
November 6—Southwestern 15, Daniel Baker College 0, at Georgetown
November 12—Southwestern 0, Texas Christian University 21, at Georgetown
November 29—Southwestern 21, Southern Methodist University 0, at Dallas
November 25—Southwestern 7, Austin College 6, at Sherman

1915-1916 Football Team

RIX, BODE, MARSH, WEIMERS, BRIGGS, HARRIS, VAUGHN, PIERCE (Manager)
SESSIONS, QUINN, LEE, HCYL (Captain), KNICKERBOCKER, CARTER

Football Personnel

MARVIN MARSH

Quarter

With an enviable record at Coronal and having been selected as All State Quarter in the realm of Prepdom, Marsh came to us this year and more than lived up to his reputation. In a never-failing way he played at full-back and half back during the early part of the season and later at quarter steered the team through several victories. Southwestern has had few men who were better ground gainers than Marsh, and his punting compared favorably with any seen on the Texas gridirons this year. As Captain of the 1916 team he should lead an aggregation that will be hard to stop.

PAT QUINN

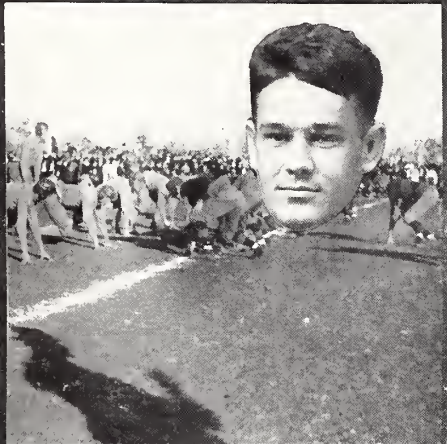

Right Halfback

Pat was one of the most efficient and competent men on the eleven. His experience with Houston High School put him in line for a steady place on any college team. He is fast and one of the best ground gainers on the line plunges and end runs the university has known for a number of years. We look forward to Pat's return next year.

E. W. BODE

Left Halfback

Undoubtedly the fastest man on the team--Bode was dangerous in a broken field. He hit his real stride in the last few games of the season. After seeing his brother play such remarkable foot ball in the Scrub-Cherokee game he put forth a greater effort to bring up his part of the family's reputation. Bode made a letter under Snipes in 1912 and his return this year was met with much rejoicing in athletic circles. He has gained many yards for the Gold and Black by his speed. Especially can he keep them guessing on returning punts.

Football Personnel

C. C. VAUGHN

Left Tackle

Vaughn is one of the Coronal trio who came to us this year. He was a very valuable man, being equally dependable on the offensive and defensive. We expect him to develop lots of speed by the opening of the 1916 season and with another year under Rix he should develop into a linesman of note.

T. LEE

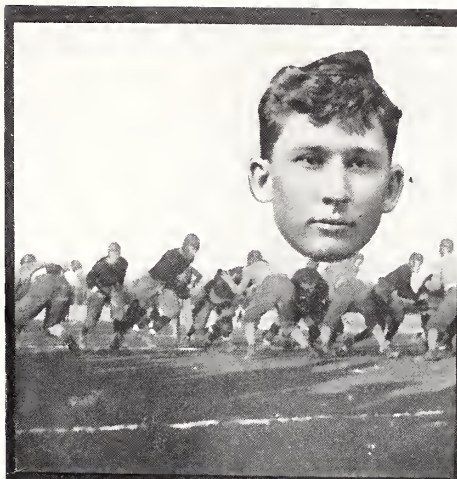

Center

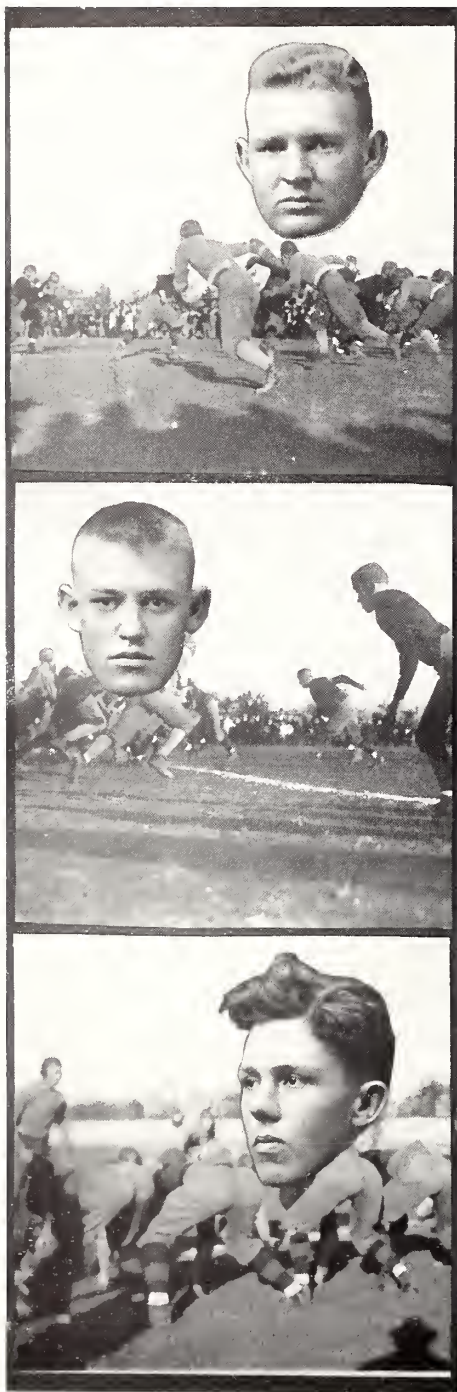

"T" may be light, but to watch him break through the line and tackle the man with the ball you would not think so. He was very accurate in passing the ball, but his long suite was breaking up forward passes and recovering fumbles. His ability to keep his eye on the ball all the time and to follow up the plays won for him the distinction of making the first touchdown of the season.

ARTHUR KNICKERBOCKER

Fullback

Everybody calls him "Knick," but the real name he has earned on the gridiron is "Grit." He got better all the season and in the last few games played a high class of ball. The reason for "Knick's" remarkable improvement is simple enough. He has the ability for downright hard work and plenty of it. In fact he enjoys it and when a coach finds that sort of a man he usually makes something out of him.

Football Personnel

JOHN HARRIS

Left Guard

Johnnie is the biggest man on the team and his 212 pounds avoirdupois made quite a respectable showing against any line in the state. If there was a gain over Johnnie something was wrong and people began to wonder immediately. His best work was in the T. C. U. and S. M. U. games. He has three more years of College Football ahead of him which fact must give the Coach a comfortable feeling.

J. O. CARTER

"Spec" came to us from Coronal with a reputation as an all-State Prep and he has thoroughly lived up to his reputation. He is a snappy man in the back field and equally good at end. As the Coach says "Little Spec will go where you call him."

HORACE BRIGGS

Right Guard

The bleachers were rather skeptical about Briggs in the early part of the season. They were inclined to think that a man with his scanty experience would stand small chance in spite of his big build. But Briggs showed them in the first game just what he was made of by snatching down a couple of forward passes and racing down the field for substantial gains. He also played in the line like a veteran.

Football Personnel

ARCHIE HOYL

Right Tackle

Archie, being the only "S" man returning from last year's team, was elected honorary captain for 1915. He filled the place in a thoroughly satisfactory manner. Some players may fail but Archie can always be relied upon to hold down his end of the bargain. And it didn't make much difference whether that bargain were an All-State Guard or a Scrub Tackle, it was all the same to Archie. He was right there to do the mule's part—"his durndest." A very fast and sure man, Hoyl was a great asset to the team.

GILPIN SESSIONS

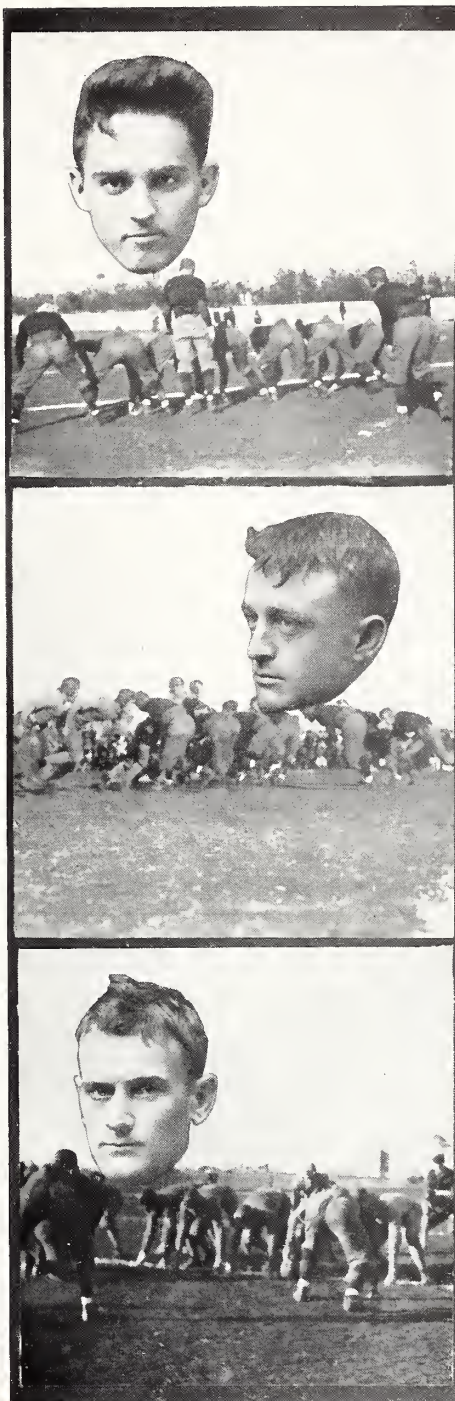

Right End

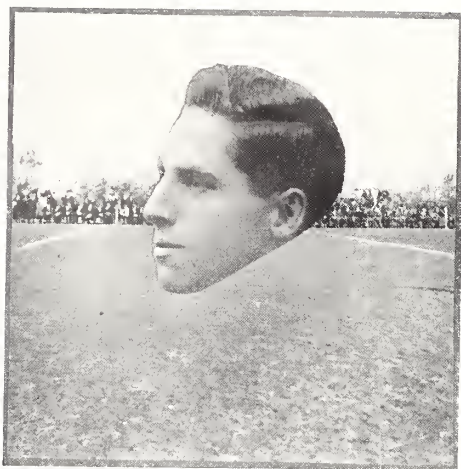

Sessions started on the Scrubs this year, but he didn't stay there long—in fact only about fifteen minutes. Hard consistent work won him a place in every game. Shifted from tackle to end in the latter part of the season, he proved to be an impassable barrier to the opponents, and his long run at Sherman almost made him famous. With this season's work and experience Sessions should become one of the mainstays of the team next year.

MARVIN WEIMERS

Left Tackle

"Dutchman," as everybody knows him, was one of the most dependable men on the team. When the opponents tried to plunge through the left side of the line they found the whole German army there waiting for them—at least they thought so before "Dutch" got through with them. A sure man on both offense and defense.

Football Personnel

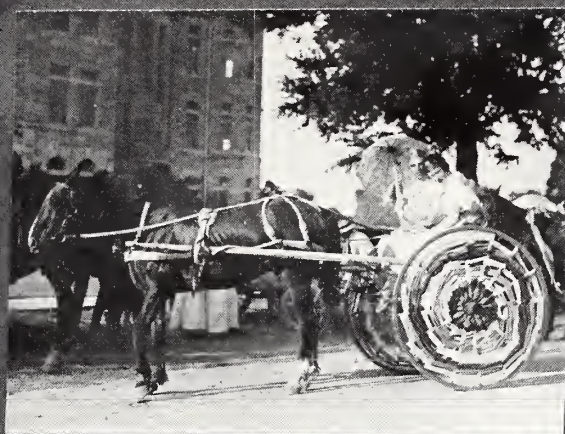

GEORGE F. PIERCE

Manager

After numerous exploits in the field of college activities "Dago" turned his attention to managing a foot ball team. And be it said to his credit, he did it extremely well. He endeared himself to the heart of every 1915 Foot Ball player by giving the team the very best to be had on every trip. He was a consistent worker on the field while at home, and jst as a little diversion, he coached the Prep. team. We believe that the season would have been much less successful if we had not had "Dago" to manage the business for us.

Southwestern Scrubs

One of the best expressions of loyalty to old Southwestern is witnessed every fall on Snyder field by these who watch the second team or what is commonly known as the "Scrubs". Fancy putting yourself in a place every afternoon for two long months, to be used as a practice instrument in perfecting the regulars, a place which brings but little praise and glory, but one that sifts a mans soul and shows his yellow streak or his true blue metal. All honor to the S. U. Scrubs of 1915 a more loyal bunch of men never donned Foot Ball togs.

The Scrubs were coached by George Trotter of Mississippi and managed by Carol Dixon of San Antonio. Aside from the scrimmages with the first team they found time to play four outside games, of this number they won two and lost two.

THE 1915 BASEBALL TEAM

Baseball Personnel

BEN LAWS, Catcher.

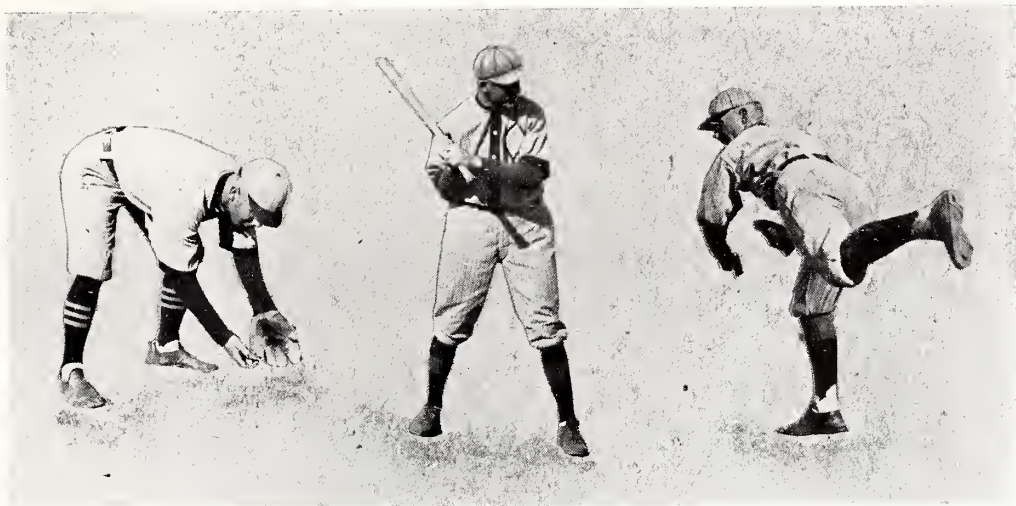

Ben was a close under-study of the immortal Titus Harris for a number of years and when his time did come he showed his ability as a student. He has a good eye at sizing up a batter and his whip to second keeps them all guessing.

RAYMOND BREWER, Shortstop.

"Dick" is the fastest shortstop in college baseball; his work has given him all-state mention. Not only has Brewer held down the short field with style but as Captain he has aided the Coach in many ways with the "green" material.

D. A. McKENZIE, Pitcher.

"Big Mac" was a real stand-by for Coach Ashton's pitching staff. The big fellow had a line of "Hooks" curves, fast and "fool" balls well governed by the old time control that struck out many a batter. Some people attribute his ability to the fact that he was born and reared in Floresville.

Baseball Personnel

BILL MATLOCK, Third Base.

Bill would look good on any man's team. The way he covers the third corner has caused much comment from base ball authorities. He is the most efficient third baseman Southwestern has known. He is also a good batter. Some people did not realize how important Bill was until he had to drop off of the team for a few days on account of injuries.

GEORGE SMITH, Right Field.

Smith just discovered he was an athlete this year. George came out for Basketball and made one of the best guards in the State. Next he tried Baseball and made good in the National Sport. We hope he will try Football next fall.

E. SINKS McLARTY, Pitcher.

Sinks is a left-handed twister and this is his third year in the box. He is noted for his quick throws, which catch many base runners off first. He keeps cool through-out the game, always smiling and wearing a glass front.

Baseball Personnel

SIMMONS, Pitcher.

“Possey” has got lots of speed and control; his pitching in the exhibition games showed his ability in the box. Coach Ashton likes the way Simmons puts ‘em over.

T. HAYWOOD McDANIEL, First Base.

Haywood is an all-state man on First; he covers the initial bag with a style never before seen about Southwestern. He gets all the bad throws, his foot work is wonderful and but few hits are made down first base line.

BEN BUFORD, Center.

Ben was lead off man and a good steady one too. He knows how to look ‘em over, and is a good hitter. Ben seldom muffs a fly and he has a peg like a rifle shot.

Baseball Personnel

JESSIE FORESTER, Second Base.

"Preacher" hails from Coronal Institute where he made a good record as shortstop. He is a good man for second as well. Jessie scoops the hot ones, and a good man to receive a peg.

CURTIS WALKER, Left Field.

Whop O'Lotie is the heaviest hitter on the nine. He came here with a good High School record and left with a better college percentage. Walker established a "rep" when he batted 1000 per cent in the White Sox game.

JACK ASHTON, Coach.

Jack Ashton formerly of the Navigators got his release from manager Hardy this year and spent the entire season coaching Southwestern. Along this line he has shown wonderful ability, for with nothing save a good infield he developed out of the raw recruits one of the leading teams in the T. I. A. A. He is a coach for whom the players will always give their best efforts. They are anxious to win for "Jack."

Baseball Personnel

BILLY WATSON, Pitcher.

Billy plays where you put him, he has held down the Key-stone corner, has worked at short, but his most effieient position is in the box. He has a line of eurve, drops and fast balls that make many batters look like wood eutters. Billy did exceeedingly well in the S. M. U. game, allowing only two hits, and in the nine innings only twenty nine men faced him.

PAUL BAKER, Second base.

Paul is a little man but covers the second saek in a good style and he is a good hitter. His two years of experience with the Kemp Amature Club where he headed the hitting column last year makes him a valuable man. With this years experience on the University team he will make a wonderful little college player and we look forward to his return next year.

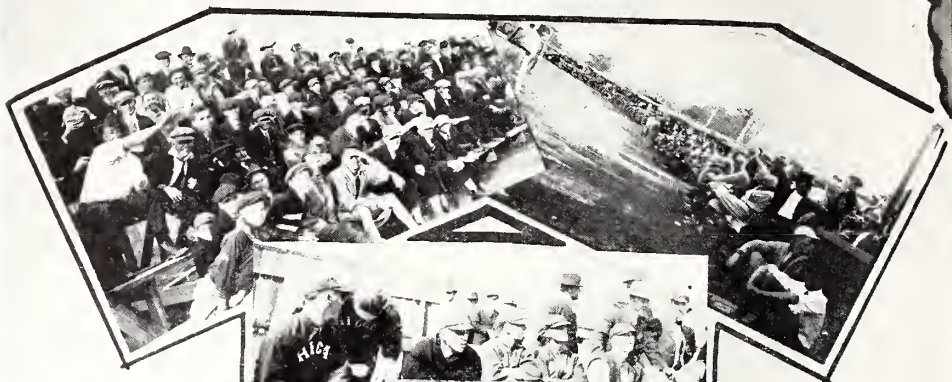

JOE LUCORE, Cateher.

Joe was an ineligable eateher on aeeount of the ten days matriculation rule. But his work deserves special mention. He caught all the exibition games and never pulled an error, his peg is good and he is familiar with the willow. Lueore hails from Houston where he made a wonderful record with the High School team.

Physical culture is given prominent place in the college life of Southwestern women. Freshman girls are required to attend gymnasium classes. Many find delight on the numerous tennis courts and in the camp fire clubs.

Basket ball attracts the largest number. In this game Southwestern fixes the standard. Physical examination by a competent physician is required of all players before they are admitted to practice.

The various class teams have manifested much enthusiasm in the contest for the Stromberg-Hoffman championship cup.

EDITORIAL PREPAREDNESS

Some people tell jokes to get the class in a good humor—like Prof. Moore; some people tell jokes to illustrate a point—like Prof. Granbery; some people tell jokes to atone for their presence among the ladies—like Jackson; but there are some people that tell jokes just for “pure cussedness”—like Ben Leigh; we are somewhat like Ben, we also write jokes to fill up the space.

DIRECTIONS FOR READING THESE BOOKS

1. Expect to find many dry ones—you will not be disappointed.
2. There's nothing original under the sun.
3. You have made a fool of yourself (Didn't know it had gotten out on you, did you?)
4. We've made a fool of ourselves (You probably will think of several instances without our help)
5. We edited these books. (A bold confession!!!)
6. Don't look for us in them. (Except of course in a flattering way.)
7. We can explain the point to these jokes (If you can find us!!!)

THE young ladies of Southwestern University stage on the Womans Building Campus on the first day of May each year one of the most gorgeous and elaborate pageants ever given in this part of the State.

Miss Rowena Onderdonk of San Antonio was crowned Queen of May this year. Her court rivaled those of the olden days in beauty and elegance.

Following the coronation there were many beautiful festivities enacted by young ladies representing maids of many climes and nationalities.

Many friends of Southwestern and large number of her alumni visited Georgetown in May to participate in this the annual event.

Spring is a time of joy and gladness and Southwestern gladly welcomes her friends to this gala occasion.

SWEET WILLIAM

TEXAS

This far-famed, auricula-eyed plant, the most beautiful and admired of all Williams. Especially thrives on aesthetic cultivation in English rooms, where it becomes strikingly brilliant and beautiful.

5c per Dozen.

GAS PLANT

A very showy, curious flower, giving off on warm evenings or other times, under stimulation or without, an asphyxiating gas. When a match is applied at the head it burns freely, and thrives best at night. It is advisable to transplant frequently as they are most appreciated when first seen. Instances are known where this plant has killed father, son, grandson—and lady.

NONE-SO-PRETTY

We are at a loss to understand why this beauty of Grapeland, a native of the sticks of South Texas, was not discovered sooner. For forty years it cast its sweetness on the desert air, but with indifferent results, and it is only recently that its merit as a Saw Bone has been discovered. Has been known to withstand a temperature of 500 degrees F.

Not for Sale.

GARLIC

This species of garlic is the prize-winner of all Burpee's Varieties—a garlic that is equally obnoxious in all society. Grows easily and is hard to squelch. The first trial of this garlic is tolerable, the second is intolerable, and all the year round is nauseous.

Price—Free—(2c stamp.)

MOON FLOWER

Loveliest of all the large flowers, having white mooney faces. These species are the result of a long painstaking selection, and are truly magnificent in their clinging denseness. Undoubtedly a great acquisition to all those who admire the massive floral plant.

For Sale During Leap Year, $1.00 per Dozen.

FORGET-ME-NOT

This charming little favorite succeeds best in the sticks, but will thrive in College. Is of unusual hardness. Will stand either zero weather or torrid heat. Is very green with a snowy, glossy, white top.

Free Sample to all Freshmen.

BALSAM PAIR

Burpee's Special Defiance Balsams, lately exported from Ford's Farms, known for being rough and knotty and are among the showiest pair seen in this locality.

For exhibition purposes only, and will not appear after June 26, 1916, as one will be transplanted to Arkansas.

Burpee's Garden Catalogue

SMILING DAISIES

A queer specimen of yellow eyed daisies, admirably adapted for a campus bench and Sunday night dates. Start in the fall, carefully tend during the winter, and in the spring it blossoms forth leaving a trail of romance. Thrive especially on moonlight and river banks.

CABBAGE LEAVES

An old time variety, largely used for pickling; the heads are flat and grow remarkably large retaining a soft texture and known for their tenderness. They are known as the "sweetest cabbage ever seen."

12 1/2

3 for 5c.

"TATERS"

Special dry weather type, known as "Rural New Yorker No. 2;" Have big eyes and are very plump. Their skin is creamy white and are mealy when very young. Nothing will wilt them.

70c a peck.

DRIED PEACHES

Formally rich, red and rosy; closely akin to the Chinese Cling—or any kind of cling. To restore first freshness and flavor, remove all Annex Atmosphere, stir well into at least six parties, and provide 220 degrees F. of dates.

Burpee's Garden Catalogue

PRUNES

Special S. U. variety, badly wrinkled yet well preserved. Common Annex dish—generally served in the evening—most obnoxious boarding house fare. Have a rich nutty flavor, that remains even when they leave. Guaranteed to be the pruniest prunes on the market.

5c a Pound—6 Pounds 25c.

MONKEY FLOWER

Sawbone, baboon variety just imported from South Africa, only plant alive; attracts much attention, good border shrub for side walks. Thrives under frequent pruning, has a willowy grace. Weekly exhibitions—10c a Show—2 Shows Saturday.

ONIONS

This onion was introduced in 1884 for those people who consider a mild onion insipid. Has done well since its first appearance and especially urged for early spring bunching. It should be remembered that the onion is one of the few vegetables that all College folks like, and these have especially distinct merits. They have a thin skin of an attractive straw color, which is capable of high polish. Are of the long necked variety.

PHI TURNIP GREENS

Angular in shape, of extra verdant hue, handsome and superior quality, fit for either sports or er—er—sports! Guaranteed never to lose their freshness; commonest on the market.

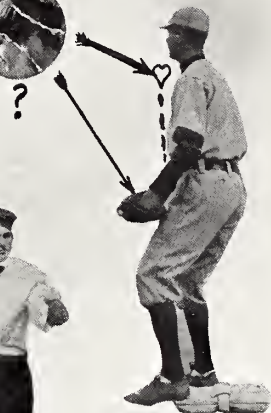

6 Bundles 5c.

A Chapel Talk

What are they doing, the Faculty stern
As they sit high in the chapel?
Thinking deep, with eyes that burn,
Frowning and scowling with great show of skill
And turning their master minds at will
At ten-thirty o'clock in the chapel.

He grabbed a note book, that Faculty man
From his coat as he sat in the chapel.
The wings of his brain they began to fan
And the golden sun a climbing went
And most straight down its rays were bent,
And still all sat in the chapel.

Long in his chair sat the Faculty man,
The students sat patient in the chapel,
And figured and thought as a great man can,
With his competent hand the pages filled,
And searched the notes of his brain, well tilled,
To make a fresh talk in chapel.

He made it long, did the Faculty man
(How short are the visitor's in chapel)
Then Philosophized and once more began,
Gathering his thoughts from off the wing,
And rounded the poor dry, empty thing
Into a speech to give in the chapel.

"This is the way," laughed the Faculty man,
(Laughed as he sat in the chapel)
The only way since men began
To make a talk you folks will heed."
Then opening his mouth, with the proper speed
He made his talk in the chapel.

Dry, dry, dry, O man,
Dry as the dust in the chapel!
Disgustingly dry, O Faculty man.
The boys on the left began to moan,
And the lassies to sigh, and seniors to groan,
At the Faculty speech in the chapel.

Yet quite satisfied is this Faculty man,
At the talk that he made in the chapel,
Yet from disgust the students ran;
The fellows groan and moan the day,
When the Faculty again such speech will say,
As they talk of all talks in the chapel.

LEE E. EDENS, CONTROVERSATIONALIST

Prof Burton asked Mr. Edens to describe Isabel, a character in a certain Spanish play. Lee hesitated and then blurted out boldly: "She was much like the frivolous girls of today." The following note was immediately forthcoming from the girls' side of the room:

FIRST NOTE

Mr. Edens: We would like to know just about how many girls of this age you have been with and where you got all your valuable information. You would do us a great favor as we want to start a reform. We are not of that type.

Very respectfully,

THE GIRLS.

THE REPLY

To the Girls: I acknowledge that my experience as a Ladies' man has been very trivial. I only base my opinion on some 22 years of general observation. I am glad you are about to start a great reform. You know man has been trying to reform a woman ever since sister Eve tempted old brother Adam to take the fatal bite out of that apple,—and without success. But if the hard-headed and weepy women get hold of this matter it is bound to succeed. If it does succeed and man learns that the reform was started in old Southwestern then you may be sure that both you and the institution will be famous forever.

Yours for reform,

LEE E. EDENS.

Mr. Edens: We could not decipher your epistle very readily—a typewriter would be a good investment.

It is very kind of you to sanction this great reform that we have started among these frivolous girls, and we would greatly appreciate your assistance in this undertaking. Adam and Eve have nothing to do with the actions of frivolous girls of the present day. Can't you think of a more modern source?

Two of your FRIVOLOUS Friends.

Perhaps you think Lee was outdone. Not a bit of it! He went home, borrowed a typewriter and a book on mythology, sat up all night and the next morning delivered the note given below with the proper air of triumph.

To the Girls: Acting upon your most highly esteemed advice I will endeavor to place all further negotiations in a more intelligible form,—and will suggest that you do likewise.

I thank my God that all my sisters happened to be brothers, and therefore my actual personal experience has been limited. You asked me to be a little more modern. Well, was it not the frivolous beauty of the Sirenes that tempted Ulysses? Was it not that same feminine fickleness in Cleopatra that caused the downfall of Caesar? And, "by the way," does not the hit dog always howl?" (not intending, however, to be a tall insinuating.)

I appreciate to the highest degree your invitation to assist in this great movement, but, however, I am sorry to say that I am conscientiously compelled to decline your kind invitation, as I am desirous of seeing it a reform for the girls, and by the girls, for, as I have before stated that "vile man has made an absolute failure" in attempting such badly needed reforms.

Thanks for the compliment as to my ability to judge. I believe you are striking the right key note after all.

Very friendly,

LEE E. EDENS.

IF PEOPLE WERE NOT POLITE ENOUGH TO LIE

"Mrs. Bishop, could we have a little more for Sunday night lunch? We just starve."

"No, ma'am. I make you expect more, but when you get there you'll find the same old soup and crackers."

"I have always thought, Bernice, that you were rather clever and pretty and attractive, but as I've been looking at you for the last forty-five minutes it has slowly dawned upon me that you are rather stupid, homely and uninteresting and—how old you appear!"

Professor Burton: Perhaps you think this chapel talk has been dull this morning, but wait for the next one—it will have no edge at all, and you might as well get used to this for its the only variety I give.

Frank Ragsdale: "I am in the habit of saying I adore going to socials, but I don't. I abhor it and I step on my toes every time I start across the room, I spill all my refreshments, and utterly detest the prattle of girls."

After coming into class absolutely unprepared and without an excuse for the past week's absence, after playing the part of the clam on the five questions asked you the teacher should come to you, pat you on the shoulder and say, "You're a fine student, you'll get a distinction all right—don't come any oftener than its convenient—" What would you do?

Sam R.: You know, it's strange, Annie Laurie, after we've been shaking hands for three hours I always get tired and wish myself away from here.

RULES FOR ANNEX GIRLS

All girls having Sunday night dates must be sure and not return before nine-thirty. It might crowd the line if this rule is not observed.

Girls watching for dates from the second floor porch must not lean over too far; it is liable to cause dislocation of the neck.

It is a fundamental rule of etiquette to talk to a gentleman at least three minutes longer if possible.

There is open house at the University store where young ladies are allowed to receive their young gentlemen friends during the week.

Talking in the library is permissible, provided you have some one to talk to.

All young ladies desiring to go into the city must be chaperoned by Freshmen.

After returning from Lyceum numbers Mrs. Day extends a cordial invitation to all young men to remain and finish any unfinished conversation.

Young ladies who are fond of walking may indulge in this excellent exercise provided they do not exceed the speed limit.

Young ladies, please do not sign your names in the office book upon leaving the Annex, it is very annoying to know of your whereabouts at all hours of the day.

Signed MRS. DAY.

General statement.

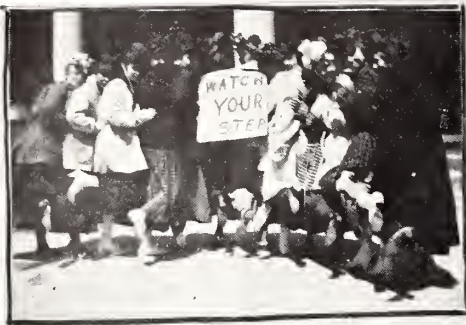

If you love your girl, your girl loves you.

Given: you love your girl.

To prove: She loves you.

- Proof 1. "All the world loves a lover". (Shakespeare.)
2. Your girl is all the world to you. (Self evident.)
 3. Hence your girls equals the world (things equal to the same thing are equal to each other).
 4. Henec your girl loves a lover.
 5. You are a lover (given).
 6. Therefore if you love your girl, your girl loves you.

CAMPUSED!!!

The Serenade

A heart-rending and brain-maddening bit of verse by the President and General Manager of the Campus Club.

Once upon a school-night dreary, as we studied, worn and weary,
So we would not bust and homeward go;
As we read the facts deploring, suddenly ther came a roaring,
As of someone loudly snoring on the campus just below,
“ ’Tis some Mood Hall Gink” we muttered, “Serenading to us so,
Only this and nothing more.”

Ah, distinetly we remember, we were in a sad dilemma
And each Annex girl was raving for these “Sad Boids” to sing more,
Eagerly we wished another—“Sing ‘Where is my lost dog, Rover?’”
Begged we still for just one other, just one more before you go
For that high-fallutin tenor, whom we fain would call Caruso,
Call him this forever more.

But the silken, sad unwelcome restling of Mrs. Day who came a’bustling
Thrilled us—filled us with a terror that we never felt before;
So to still our nervous flutter out went the lights and down the shutters
And we all sought hasty entrance in behind the closet door—
Falling one upon another on the dirty unswept floor,
This we did and nothing more.

Presently Mrs. Day grew madder, and her voice grew strong and louder,
“Git”, she said, “you long legged scall’wags, and come no more.”
“While I was the office keeping, up to here you’ve come a’sneaking.”
And so loudly she protested that they left not unrequested.
But we girls were left to suffer the Honor Councils’ wrath so sore—
And we we’re campused now forever more.

Aline: "Inez, have you learned the verse we had in German for today?"
Inez (Who has been given four verses to learn): "Oh, yes, I have learned all except the first three."

A GENTLE HINT

Willie Blount: "Here's your chafing dish spoon. Thanks awfully for letting me have it."

Mabel Shands: "Oh, don't mention it." (Swallowing hard.) "Only next time you needn't wash it."

TEACHING VOICE

The Education lesson was on the active and passive voice. Ellen Hazel was given the assignment to discuss at the board: "How would you teach voice in school?" She tried to bluff and this was the information that Prof. Nichols obtained from her discussion:

"The subject of voice is one that is very much neglected in this country in spite of its great importance. There is no doubt that the modern scientific methods should be applied in teaching voice. Many a person has been ruined by having voice taught improperly. Especial emphasis should be placed upon correct standing, breathing and pronunciation."

SPEAKING OF BADGES

Freshman: "Is that a Red Cross badge you are wearing?"

Senior: "No, it's a frat recognition pin."

"TO LET, LARGE AND AIRY."

Can anyone explain why Ruth Goddard gets slack in her studies?

Tennessee (To a Ranchman): "How was the cotton crop this year?"

EDDY HUMOR

A freight train was passing. Prof. Eddy had an acute case of Forditis in his right forearm, but in spite of this and the noise of the train he was trying to talk to his class. At last he gave it up and seating himself in a chair he said: "Well! I guess it's no use for a one arm man to try to run over a freight train anyhow."

OUR SPEAKING PROFESSOR

It was an informal party given just before the opening of school last fall. Everybody was doing some sort of a stunt. Mary Davidson remarked to Prof. Wentz that he could not stand up in the center of the room, swing his arms around his head three times, each time repeating the phrase, "What am I doing?" without smiling. Of course Prof. Wentz undertook the matter. Why, hasn't he been studying elocution in Philadelphia for many years? He stood, walked to the center of the room and said with great dignity and composure, "What am I doing," three times. Just as he finished Mary Davidson remarked "Making a fool of yourself."

THE TRAGEDY OF THE FARM

Scene 1 Act 1

The farmer felt Good(e). His Gardner had brought Berrys from the Marsh, and had caught Black Bass at the Hole by the Mill(s).

The old Gray Hooks the Straw in Peace for he knew there was Moore Hay for the next Day.

In the yard the Drakes are Hooten fit to Dye, the Lamb lies Weeks on the Moss by the Glynn dreaming of fierce Lyons.

Scene 2, Act 1

Now the farmer feels his Armstrong, when the Cook Burns the Bass and the Ayer(s) smells of Slack Coffee, the farmer raises Cain and tells the Cook real Blount to Trott or he would Baker. But the Bishop came which Means Peace and made the farmer Walk-er.

Moral: Never Trott a woman when you can Walker.

Prof. Moore: "What is a parasite?"

Miss McAfee: "Do you mean those people of Paris?"

A jolly laugh is a great benefit to the home, but somehow, or other it is not as stable as the horse laugh.

Useless Verses—Disjointed and Unconnected

Who'll report 'em, who'll report 'em,

The faculty they held a court,
And a very stern court held they,
They sent for the boys, they sent for the girls
On this sad and trying day.
Each boy he'd cut some good lessons
And some very good lessons had cut he
"Oh ho! oh ho!" cried the fellows
There's some so sly, as can get by
The faculty in court, whoop'ee.

There was a young lass
Who went to S. U.
She had so many lovers
She didn't know what to do.
She flirted with all, without heart and unkind,
And went home and married
The man left behind.

There was a Freshman boy
Who joined the Freshman class
And went to a Freshman party
With a pretty Freshman lass
He went the Freshman gaits
So he'll be a Freshman still
The next year or so.

Oh Honor Council
Come get your pen
Here's a poor victim
You can turn in.
Where's the little girl to report these two
She's talking also if you just knew.

I wish I was a rock
A sittin' on a hill
A doin' nothin' all day long
But just a sittin' still
I wouldn't eat, I wouldn't sleep
I wouldn't even wash
I'd just sit there a thousand years
And rest myself—by gosh! (Ex.)

Prof. Eddy (In German 51): "Herr Seale, you may begin the translation for today."

Mr. Seale: "Er—ah—er—er. I can't think of the meaning of that first word."

Prof. Eddy: "Well, you may stop right there, and Mr. Edens, you may take up the translation where Mr. Seale left off."

Prof. Moore (In Freshman History): "Mr. Merritt, what was the cause for the decline of Feudalism."

Goat Merritt: "The cause for the decline of feudalism was the introduction of Fire Alarms."

Few people are so conscientious as our own well-beloved William Nevil; the man with the extraordinary wind and nerve, brass and bombast; in writing "Poetry" and in cross country running. He believes in avoiding even the appearance of evil. It was as he was returning from the Annex after the Martha Washington party that this conversation occurred:

Barcus: "Didn't you think that the marching in the Grand March was the same as dancing, Nevil?"

Nevil: "Yes, but you see I was careful not to keep step with my girl so it was all right."

Prof. Nichols was explaining that so many men lose out in business because they are victims of "Get-Rich-Quick schemes." He was urging deliberation in making big deals. "A man should go slow in matters of this sort" he said. All were listening attentively when Gladys Brewer said impatiently: "But, Dr. Nichols, most men are too slow already."

Prof. Moore could not read a written exercise by one of our most silver-tongued orators—Mr. Chisholm.

"Shall I read it for you, Professor?"

"No," replied Prof. Moore, "next time simply write a little note at the bottom of the page and tell me what it is all about."

It was a cold day and they were having trouble in keeping the Annex warm. It was noticed at dinner that Professors Granberry, Moore, Eddy and Manchester had been invited to dine with the inhabitants of the Chilly Annex. Dr. Bishop presided over this august body. It was rather strange to some people but there was no further difficulty in keeping the Annex warm that night. The warm air system of heating worked perfectly.

Prof. Gray: "What is the principle fact that is not disputed in regard to the authorship of Mark?"

Sinks McLarty: "Why, that Mark ran around with Peter!"

In Bib. Lit. Sinks disagreed with a statement in the text book.

Prof. Gray: "Why didn't you raise that question with the author, Mr. McLarty?"

Sinks: "Well, you see, I don't know the author."

Prof. Gray: "That is what I thought. You are not familiar with him, in other words."

S M I L E J U S T S M I L E

Margaret: "Do you like best sellers?"

Student: "Prof. Tinsley, how can you tell the difference between a plant and an animal?"

Prof. Tinsley: "That is perfectly clear. Suppose you were casually walking along and saw a tree grazing in the field with a cow under it. You could at once see the difference between a plant and an animal."

A group of girls were looking at a picture of the Colisuem which hangs in the reception hall at the Annex. Said Lucy Lee: "What is that a picture of?"

Elizabeth Smyrl responded immediately: "Why, that is a picture of the old Annex. It burned down more than twenty years ago."

They say that Lucy will stand before the picture and gaze at it by the hour. She has often been heard to wonder why they built that ill-fated Annex round.

Dr. Nichols was delivering himself of certain views of his on the subject of marriage. "No man should marry until he has saved up enough money to support a family," he said. This was followed by a depressing silence, finally Gladys Tinsley remarked, "But, Dr. Nichols, it takes some men so long to save up any money."

Some people state that this year's Freshman bunch is far above any we have ever had before. We doubt this statement. For instance 1916 bunch of Emeralds have not produced an instance that would compare in verdance with the renowned and never-to-be-forgotten Alfred Mumme. It is stated on good authority that the first time he walked to town in the metropolis of Georgetown he remarked to someone: "These pavements are sure hard on a fellow's feet."

Prof. Tinsley's Geology classes are always large and he often adopts the method of calling on the pupils alphabetically. Of course it is a simple matter to count up and find out just about when your turn will come. But Prof. Tinsley will not do this any more, we fear. A thick-skulled Freshman spoiled it all answering the roll by shouting out "Number 17" instead of present.

STARTLING FACTS

Everett Martin had a date for the Freshman party.

The freshman class has a fancy "Seale."

Briggs is still a Freshman.

After three months of training Mood Hall boys persist in mashing peas with their fork to eat with their knives.

A PROPOSITION

Would it be "Wright" if Tinsley had "Moore" "Nichols" for Granberry to "Wunder"

What If?

What if Coryell were to get animated?

What if "Posse" Simmons had a date?

What if there were no "Hard Nine"? What would "Sawbones" do?

What if Mood Hall ran out of "grits"?

What if Johnny Harris were not a Freshman?

What if Coach Rix wore a hat?

"Why certainly—sure,
When I saw you first I laughed at thee!

We regret that for the lack of space we can not print the entire poem by Wm. Nevil on "Reverie," but can publish these two lines for the inspiration of posterity:

"My mind is wrapt in silent awe,
Thinking of the things I've saw."

A PSALM

The honor council is my shadow, I shall not be lonesome. It followeth me up halls and down halls; it leadeth me away from temptation (boys); it alloweth me three minutes; it leadeth me in the strait and narrow path for my own "safety first" yea though I converse more than three minutes in the halls I shall not be alone, for it is always behind me; it's time piece and stern countenance watch o'er me. It maketh dates with me in the parlors, it sitteth in judgment upon me, its accusations are many. Surely call downs and campuses shall haunt me all the days of my life and I shall remember the Honor Council forever.

How are you feeling?
"Rotten," said the apple.
"Punk," said the firecracker.
"Good," said the preacher.
"Fine," said the police judge.
"Swell," said the toothache.
"Elegant," said the dude.
"Fit," said the tailor.
"Well," said the Artesian driller.
"First rate," said the post-master.
"Tip-top," said the Prep belfry.
"Grate," said the anthrcite coal.
"Bully," said the Mood Hall steak.
"Tough," said the ditto chicken.
"With my fingers," said the fresh Freshie.

THE LEARNING PROCESS

Colvin

Appreciated by Sam F. Drake, the well known Psychologist—Freshman.

I wish to say that I have thoroughly studied and analyzed this volume. I would like to state that it represents my own view on the Psychology of Learning and the original nature of man. I thoroughly agree from my own experience in College that nothing but the most thorough scholarship should be tolerated. It strangely happened that on one occasion I found a course in which I did not study and found the effects very disastrous. Therefore my moral to all Freshmen is, "Be sure and study."

DOING SOCIETY

W. B. McMillan

I wish to say that this book comes as a result of years of experience and I can vouch for the truth of any statement therein. It will be found valuable to any young man who desires to make himself popular. A brief glance at the contents will show its real worth.

Introduction—My own experiences.

Chapter 1.—The more young lady friends the better.

Chapter 2.—A wide assortment is easier to manage.

Chapter 3.—It's comparatively simple to find from fourteen to twenty-eight dates a week.

Chapter 4.—A sunrise breakfast gives you a chance for one date.

Chapter 5.—Kodaking parties fill the afternoon.

Chapter 6.—Any young lady is glad to ride for an hour at sunset.

Chapter 7.—It's a simple matter to get dates for the evening.

Chapter 8.—Thus four dates a day is easy.

Chapter 9.—Four times seven are twenty-eight.

Chapter 10.—Two dates a week will cinch any girl.

Chapter 11.—Fourteen girls is a good list to start on.

Chapter 12.—Girls may be dropped or added at will.

Appendix 1.—Baseball games, tennis, invitations to dinner, a little spin to a neighboring town, will add at least twenty dates a month.

Appendix 2.—This makes a grand total of one hundred thirty-two dates a week.

Appendix 3.—A sum total of one thousand, five hundred, eighty-four a year.

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR"

Copyrighted by Dawson, Gorsline, Jacques, Cowan and McDaniel.

Chapter I.—A man must wear a "Pomp" if he is to be popular—by four hours work daily a good one can be developed. DAWSON.

Chapter II.—The greatest insight into the character of the human species of the male variety is the quality of shirt worn. It's an easily proven geometrical proposition that the strength of a person varies exactly as the loudness of the shirt increases. I do not wish to boast, but I have been called the "strongest man in North Texas." GORSLINE.

Chapter III.—A man's feet are usually the biggest thing about him so he should note with particular care the latest thing in socks. "Screaming" ones can be secured anywhere 2 for 25c. Or, if you prefer, you may follow my own plan and buy them by the dozen from Sears, Roebuck & Co. COWAN.

Chapter IV.—A bizarre appearance is often useful, at least it makes an impression and a man can do anything when he is the center of attraction. A barber pole suit is a cheap accessory for rare occasions. JACQUES.

Chapter V.—Many a man after following all the beauty hints given above still fails because he neglects one of the most vital things. It is the complexion. There are several good massage creams on the market, but I have a variety invented by myself which accounts in a large way for my remarkable lily-like complexion. I will send the prescription free if 25c is sent for postage and packing. McDANIEL.

"FRECKLES"

By Red Knickerbocker and Red Chapman.

"Those million little freckles on his charming little nose,
Add to his looks of dignity and repose."

"THE MAN HIGHER UP"

Percy Black

"He was the tallest Texan of them all."

"THE MELTING POT"

Gymnasium

"And when the summer day was hottest they all together danced."

"CAN SUCH THINGS BE"

Freshman Martin

"They wondered much and still the wonder grew,
That Martin's head could hold all he knew."

"ELSIE'S NEW RELATIONS"

These Cousins (?) Good cousins, bad cousins, fat cousins, lean cousins,
But all Annex cousins are boy cousins.

BED VERSUS RIDING

A new and clever book just off the press. It compares the number of deaths resulting from two great menaces to human life—Riding Horseback and Going to Bed. Instructive, Startling, but Reassuring. It bring out the unreasonableness of FEAR.

TRAVIS COTTRELL.

A GREAT BARGAIN

I have just completed a big volume on Fishing. I wrote this volume during the English 151 Examination and can state that it represents actual experience. Special price to students $5.00.

DEAN PEGUES.

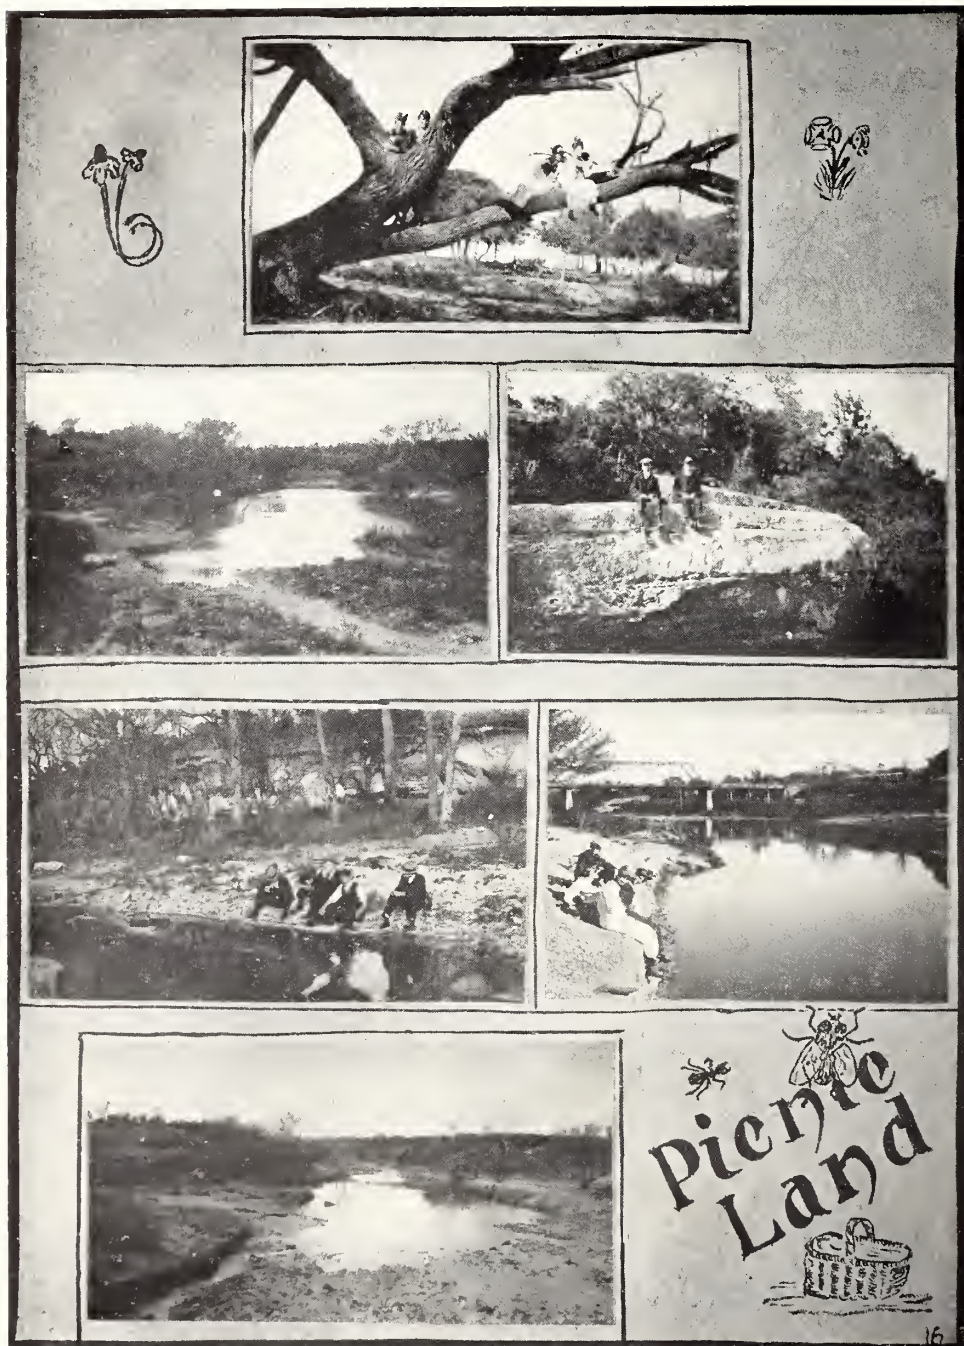

FOR TRADE OR EXCHANGE

A motley collection of love letters, candy boxes, pressed flowers and men's hearts. See me immediately; am desperate. RUTH BLANKS.

JUST DISCOVERED

The color of "Red" Knickerbocker's hair—it is burnt orange.

Question: Is Warren Hull ? ? ? No, just plain nut.

The Preparatory Building

This building was the first structure erected by Southwestern University. For a long time it was only two stories, a third being added later. During the past few years it has been greatly modernized as a school building and has been very much beautified.

W. B. McMillan, A. B.

Principal of the Fitting School

W. B. McMillan is a graduate of Southwestern. After his graduation he was principal of Georgetown High School which position he resigned to become Professor of History and director of Athletics in the Waco High School. He was elected to the position he now holds in 1912. He has not only increased the efficiency and attendance of the Fitting School, but his continued efforts have changed the "Prep" from a barren and desolate looking place into an attractive and inviting school. The results of his labor are seen both in the building and on the grounds;—the improvements on the latter being a matter of civic pride to the whole town. Mr. McMillan is one of the most successful principals the Fitting School has had.

Acknowledgements

It is hard to say good-bye to the one object that has been the center of existence to you for a whole year. But the last batch of copy is ready to go forward to the printer and this little acknowledgement must go with it. The work has been very pleasant this year; we have felt the loyalty of the Student Body and we have been so fortunate as to have as co-workers people who were willing to give themselves unreservedly to the work. There were a few on the staff who have not been able to devote much time or energy to the Sou'Wester, but these were the exception rather than the rule and they were more than compensated for by the loyalty and enthusiasm of the others.

There is no need to speak here of the art work done by Messrs. Frank Ragsdale and W. W. Crook. It speaks for itself. However, they have made practically every design, mounted every picture and helped in the general editorial make-up of the book. The amount of work done by them has been extraordinary and we wish the credit for this work to go just where it belongs.

To Mr. Darsey and Mr. Gilchrist we feel indebted for their cheerful service.

This year a Freshman Staff was organized as a new venture in editing the Sou'Wester. The following members of this staff have rendered efficient service: Misses Edna Sullivan, Lillian Jennings, Margaret McKennon, Oatman, Guyer, Dot Howard, Lucile Hardin, Lila Bass; Messrs. Paul Baker, Burdette Sparks, Faust Collier, Everette Martin.

We are deeply indebted to Dr. Cody and Mr. Dee Simpson for their kind assistance in the preparation of the Tradition Department.

Through-out the year Dean Pegues and Prof. Moore have shown their keen interest in the success of the publication and have helped in numberless ways. They have stood ready to help us at all times.

If the humorous department has anything of snap and life about it no small part of the credit for this should go to Misses Vera Smith and Travis Cottrell who so generously volunteered to help.

We disclaim all responsibility for the Senior "Squibs". Hattie Stanford, "She done 'um".

We wish to thank the advertisers who have made the financial success of the book possible.

I'll Bet You Hadn't Thought of it in Just this Way

HAD IT EVER OCCURRED TO YOU that you had as well try to be a successful physician without attending a medical school, or a successful lawyer without attending a law school, or a successful minister without attending a theological school, as to try to be a successful banker or merchant or business man of any kind without first getting a practical business training? If you wanted to make a first class doctor, lawyer or minister, you would attend a university with a reputation. Why not use the same good judgment in selecting a business school in which to secure your training? The Tyler Commercial College of Tyler, Texas, is the business university of the South; it enrolls more students annually for Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Stenotypewriting, Cotton Classing, Business Administration and Finance, and Telegraphy than any other similar school in America. Its students have come from 39 different states; its graduates are holding the very best of positions in the leading cities of the United States.

If you will spend from $100.00 to $150.00 for tuition, board and books for a course of Shorthand and Stenotypewriting or Bookkeeping or Telegraphy, or Cotton Classing or Business Administration and Finance, or better still, spend $175.00, to $200.00 and complete any two of these courses, you will have made the best investment of your life. What young man or woman with grit and determination cannot raise this amount? Hundreds of students who borrowed every cent of their money to attend our school or gave us their note on tuition have found it the best venture of their lives; they were soon able to pay back the borrowed money, continue holding their good job, or go into business for themselves, with assurance of success. If you always remain where you are, you will always be what you are.

SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

GEORGETOWN, TEXAS

SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY, the great, old College of Texas Methodism, enters upon its forty-third year with the opening of the session of 1916-17. The years have brought a rich heritage of traditions, an untold wealth in the hundreds of Alumni and thousands of ex-students. The courses of study are vigorous, the student life democratic and expenses moderate.

¶ Southwestern University has a strong faculty, splendid buildings and equipment, and a new Science building, concrete, reinforced with steel, now being built, will be ready for you next September. All this, located in a beautiful, picturesque old College town, surrounded by wholesome influences, makes Southwestern the ideal place for college work.

¶ Are you thinking of entering college? Then send for a booklet descriptive of Georgetown and the college life at Southwestern. It is yours for the asking. Address

Abandonment

Just a sittin and a fishin
On a summer day,
A sittin and a dreamin
About the far away.

Not a workin and a sweatin
On an Annual page
Not a workin and a frettin
Like I'se in a cage
Not a workin and a worryin
A bringin on old age.

Just a restin and a singin—
'Cause the Annual's done
A restin and a feelin
Like a rich man's son
A restin on my honors
And havin lots of fun.

Its a sellin and a takin
Like other dandy books
A sellin and a goin
But so have my good looks
A sellin and I'm happy
A danglin my fish hooks.
